Italian cruise ship Achille Lauro catches fire off Somali coast

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The Achille Lauro's history of misfortune ended in flames Wednesday on the Indian Ocean, where nearly 1,000 passengers and crew fled in lifeboats as the listing cruise ship burned. At least one death was reported. The ship burned into the night, tilting 45 degrees over to its port side off the coast of Somalia. The captain of a rescue boat that went to the rescue said it was in danger of sinking. The Achille Lauro gained notoriety in 1985 when Palestinian hijackers took an American passenger in. But its troubled past includes the death of an Italian fisherman whose boat was rammed in 1971 and two passengers who drowned after escaping a 1981 fire. After fighting the blaze, the last 60 crew members abandoned the vessel and boarded merchant ships helping in the rescue. The 23,478-ton ship was burning and listing badly 130 miles south of the Horn of Africa. Wednesday night, Italian

Coast Guard officials said everyone aboard was accounted for. Eight people were injured in the fire. "The whole aft half of the ship is fully engulfed" by flames, said U.S. Navy Lt. Paul Frost, who flew over the site in the afternoon. "Flames have progressed far forward in the ship." The ship's owner, Genoa-based Starlauro, said the blaze apparently broke out in the passenger area, but the cause was unknown. But Dmitrios Skapinkais, the Greek captain of the Treasure Island, said the liner's captain, who came aboard to use his ship's radiotelephone, said the fire started in the engine room. By late evening, the liner was listing 40 degrees to port, Skapinkais said. "I did not see the vessel sinking, but maybe in the next 12 hours, if any explosions come from the fuel tanks ... the vessel is going to be sinking," he said.

May be time for U.N. to leave Bosnia, Boutros-Ghali says

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — Snubbed by Serbs and unable to arrange a cease-fire, U.N. Secretary-General Boutros Boutros-Ghali said Wednesday it may be time to send peacekeepers home. Unless the Bosnian Serbs and Muslim-led government agree to talk peace and cooperate with the United Nations, "it will become impossible" to persuade the Security Council to keep peacekeepers in Bosnia, he said after a six-hour visit to Sarajevo. But he said he will not recommend a pullout "for the time being." Boutros-Ghali's remarks were the first time he has threatened a withdrawal. They reflect a growing frustration as the Serbs continue their assault on Bihac, the Muslim-led government refuses new concessions, U.N. peacekeepers are being held hostage and the Western alliance is divided about how to respond.
