Cowboys' Davis leaving

FORT WORTH (AP) — Dallas Cowboys defensive coordinator Butch Davis says he's talking to three organizations — the Los Angeles Raiders, the Philadel-phia Eagles and the University of Miami — about becoming a head coach.

Speaking for the first time about the three-way coaching courtship, Davis told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram in Sunday editions that he's gone as far as negotiating a contract with the Hurricanes.

'We've got three very inviting situations, and things are moving quickly," Davis said Saturday. "It's a giant jigsaw puzzle and we're trying to put all these little pieces together.

Davis said he was arranging second interviews this week with the Raiders and Miami and an initial interview with the Eagles.

With the Raiders, Davis already has assembled a proposed staff for owner Al Davis' approval, the newspaper reported. No more than two Cowboys assistants are on that list, which is topped by defensive assistant Mike Zimmer.

"This is where we've gotten the furthest along as far as contemplating all the scenarios,' the Cowboys' coordinator said. "But maybe that's just because they talked to me first.'

Davis' second interview with Miami will include contract talks, as did his Friday night session with athletic director Paul Dee. Davis said he was aware of reports of a guaranteed three-year, $2.1 million package at the school.

"There are some attractive things about that situation," said Davis, adding that he wants to know more about the possibility Miami could be put on NCAA probation. "I'm hearing conflicting things, and I need to get the truth."

The Eagles were attempting to set up an interview with Davis for Thursday in Miami, but he wants that meeting with owner Jeffrey Lurie moved up.

"I don't know when I'll be able to see the Eagles," Davis said. "But I do need to find out if it is legitimate interest on their Cowboys owner Jerry Jones is already moving to protect his coaching staff in anticipation of Davis' departure. He has indicated faith in defensive assistant Jim Eddy, who could be promoted to coordinator.

'I've made tentative deals with three of the six assistants who are up, and I should have most done by Monday," Jones said. "As for Jim Eddy, he's very talented, and very important to us.

Krzyzewski out until next season

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke any other administrative re basketball coach Krzyzewski, recovering from back surgery, will not coach again this season.

Athletic director Tom Butters said Sunday the 47-year-old coach will return to for the 1995-

Physicians, university officials and Krzyzewski agreed that to rush his recovery and rehabilitation from surgery and exhaustion would not be in the best interests of the coach or the school. Krzyzewski underwent back surgery on Oct. 22 for a displaced disc. Instead of taking the standard time off for rehabilitation, he went back to work in preparation for the season in about two weeks.

Two days after the Blue Devils lost their Atlantic Coast Conference season opener to Clemson, Krzyzewski com-plained of exhaustion and was admitted to Duke University Hospital on Jan. 6. On Jan. 10, Krzyzewski was released from the hospital with instructions not to have any contact with the basketball team or sponsibilities. Originally, the school said he would not return for several weeks.

When Krzyzewski left, the Blue Devils were 9-3. The team, now under the direction of assistant coach Pete Gaudet, has lost six straight games, its longest losing streak in 56 years. Gaudet has coached five of them.

Krzyzewski, Duke's all-time winningest coach, met with the players and coaching staff Sunday afternoon to inform them of the decision.

"Coach K is a Duke treasure and we want to take care of our treasures," Duke president Nan Keohane said Sunday. "We all miss him and look forward to having him back next year, but we also want him to take the time he needs to get better."

Krzyzewski said while he feels he's made good progress in the last two weeks, to return without the proper time commitment would hurt the program.

'The indecision of when I would return should be put to rest so the team can move forward," Krzyzewski said.

"I like to think of the opponent and visualize making passes," Kessel said. "Just thinking of the other team will help me play like I'm at home."

Junior college transfer John Stevens, coming off a season-high 15 point performance against Houston Saturday, said focus and rest will aid the Aggies to victory against the Saints.

"Basically, we need to make sure that we have enough rest," Stevens said. "We need to stay focused on the game and don't allow the fans to take us out of the game."

Guard Corey Henderson, who made six of nine threepointers for 18 points against Houston, agrees with Stevens that the team will need to be mentally prepared. We need to go up and stay fo-cused," Henderson said. "We have to come home with a win in order to keep our confidence level up through the rest of the conference games.'

Henderson said he will not hesitate to take the three-point shot against Siena if it becomes

Two of Siena's players who A&M will need to hold in check are senior center Matt Gras and sophomore guard Andy Thies.

Gras is averaging 15.1 points and 6.5 rebounds per game and is coming off a 13 point and five rebound performance versus Manhattan at home last weekend.

Thies is averaging 12.0 points per game and hitting close to 50 percent from behind the three-point line. Thies will need to be contained as a result of his 17 point performance against Manhattan on Saturday. The Aggies will continue their road trek when they face Texas Christian University on Saturday in Fort Worth and then travel to Dallas to face Southern Methodist University on January 31.
