Mitchell

some good outings, he has been outstanding."

Mitchell is third on the team in strikeouts with 25 and has only 8 walks.

"I'm trying to get my curve ball back," Mitchell said. "It has been kind of off and on this season. I need to get a sharper break on my curve and need to develop my change up. Some times I just don't have a feel for it but it's getting better."

Mitchell's confidence has steadily grown despite getting hit pretty hard earlier in the season.

"I've gotten pretty lucky lately," Mitchell said. "In the fall I gave up four home runs in one outing and the team gave me a pretty hard time about that. It hurts your confidence and it took me about two or three days to shake it off."

Mitchell's biggest accomplishment this season was his win against the University of Houston at the beginning of April.

"Houston was my best game because it was a conference game and I was able to pick up the win," Mitchell said. "Conference games mean more even though I couldn't throw my curve balls for strikes. But I was able to pitch for seven innings."

Mitchell was drafted by the Cleveland Indians in 1993 but is not worrying about that far ahead in the future; he has more immediate goals.

"I would like to win the conference and be named to the All-Southwest Conference team but that is a goal of every player," Mitchell said. "I thought about playing for the Indians a lot when I was in junior college but coming to A&M has changed my entire thought process. Now I'll play (in the pros) if I can but I'm not going to worry about it."

Banquet

NCAA bid for the second straight year. After defeating Michigan State at home in the first round of the tournament, the Lady Aggies traveled to Ohio State University and were eliminated by the Buckeyes, who eventually entered the NCAA Final Four.

Head coach Laurie Corbelli's team is already in their spring session and is expecting big things next season.

"We are in the spring session with two juniors and all the rest sophomores and freshmen," Corbelli said. "We're going out on the West Coast to some of my old schools and teams and we're ready to whoop it up out there."

Corbelli gave her team MVP award to junior setter Suzy Wente, who led the SWC in assists per game in 1994, as well as setting four new school individual records and becoming A&M's all-time assist leader.

Also honored from the volleyball team were senior Jennifer Bronner as most improved player, freshman Kristie Smedsruer as best offensive player and junior Dana Santleben as best defensive player.

The Texas A&M women's basketball team enjoyed a fine season under first-year coach Candi Harvey. The team took third place in the SWC and although they were looked over by the NCAA selection committee, the Lady Aggies were pegged as the top seed in the Women's National Invitational Tournament in Amarillo.

The Lady Aggies went on to win three straight games to take home the NWIT crown, the first SWC team ever to win the tournament. Along the way, junior Martha McClelland surpassed the 1,000 point total for her career, junior Kelly Cerny became the all-time A&M in blocked shots and guard Carey Owens was named SWC Freshman of the Year.

Junior point guard Lisa Branch, named first-team All-SWC was named as the Lady Aggies' Most Valuable Player. The most improved player award went to sophomore guard Lana Tucker, who also received the best defensive player award.

The "Guts Award" went to junior guard Bambi Ferguson who has become a crowd favorite at G. Rollie White Coliseum during her three seasons.

"This player is never without her knee pads and is known for her dives into the crowd and her patented yell," Harvey said.

Also taking home honors were Shannon Etchberger as MVP for cross country and diver Jodi Janssen who was the highest freshman finisher in the SWC this season.
