BRAD & Alvaro Simpson trial resumes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After two days of questioning rebellious jurors, the usually easy-going Judge Lance Ito got tough Tuesday, snapping orders, ejecting spectators and making clear he will tolerate no further delays in O.J. Simpson's trial.

"He appears to be a man with a mission to end this case," said Loyola University law professor Laurie Levenson. "It's as if he made a promise to those jurors and he's going to make good on it."

Testimony resumed after a four-day break with cross-examination of police criminalist Andrea Mazzola, who was unruffled by tough questioning about her collection of crucial evidence in the slayings of Nicole Brown Simpson and her friend Ronald Goldman.

Ito, who halted the trial last week after jurors rebelled, repeatedly objected as defense attorney Peter Neufeld took a confrontational approach with Mazzola.

When Neufeld tried to ask Mazzola about her work on two previous crime scenes, Ito, who has been criticized for letting the trial meander, stopped him:

"He [Ito] appears to be a man with a mission to end this case."

— Laurie Levenson, Loyola University professor

"Counsel, I'm not really interested in the other crime scenes."

At another point, Ito halted a line of questioning, saying, "This is interesting, but not particularly relevant."

When defense attorney Johnnie Cochran Jr. asked to speak, Ito gave him 60 seconds. As testimony got under way, Ito ousted two spectators in the back for whispering to each other.

Ito's tough demeanor emerged after he met behind closed doors with unhappy jurors, among them a woman who threatened to bolt from the sequestered panel, saying, "I can't take it anymore."

Last week, he removed three sheriff's deputies from jury guard duty because of complaints from a few panelists. The move set off a revolt by 13 other jurors who wanted the deputies to stay.

With his inquiry into jury problems continuing, Ito refused to unseal transcripts of his conversations with jurors and alternates. But their demeanor — and his — indicated a deal of some sort had been struck.

The jurors were businesslike and attentive in court, but they took not a single note during Neufeld's cross-examination of Mazzola. Gone were the black clothes they wore Friday that symbolized the jury protest; they reverted to coordinated dresses and suits.
