Music to clash tonight in Battle of the Bands

By Amy Collier
THE BATTALION

It will be a tough fight, but no blood will be shed when the 3rd Floor Cantina hosts a Battle of the Bands tonight. The concert will give five local bands an opportunity to showcase their talent in 30-minute sets.

Mitchell Reyes, a senior accounting major, organized the concert to raise money for his business fraternity, Phi Beta Lambda.

"Expect to get a bunch of good music from local bands," Reyes said. "It's going to be a lot of fun."

Reyes said he hopes the club is packed. "We're expecting it to have a good turnout," Reyes said. "We're hoping to get the maximum capacity."

Adding to the night are door prizes and a performance by Ty and the Semi-Automatics after the battle, Reyes said.

Jon Beal, lead vocalist and keyboard player of Drench, said his band will add spice to the night with their progressive-rock style.

"I think we have something cool to show and we don't have to take anything away from the others," Beal said. "We pretty much play what we want to play and hope that people like it."

Expanding its listening audience is something the band hopes to achieve from the concert, Beal said.

"It's always better if you can start expanding your listeners," he said. "If you don't, you end up just playing for your friends."

Marshall Love, lead singer of Jasmine Blue, said his acoustic band plans to play their first songs without amplification to surprise people with something unusual.

"That may get people to listen to the a local alternative band, said he fit from listening to his competitors.

"I'm looking forward to seeing the competition between the other local bands in this area," Petereit said. "I want to hear the music I listen to."

Petereit said he wants to win the contest to get more exposure for his band.

"If we win, it will be the next step that we want for our band to succeed," Petereit said.

The competition will also provide opportunity for Battlecow and Forgive Me Monks to show their musical talents.

What appears only as a friendly local battle could develop into a world opportunity for the bands.

Willie Bennett, manager of 3rd Floor Cantina, said the bands that impress him most likely get an opportunity to perform regularly at 3rd Floor Cantina.

"I'm looking forward to it because it will give me an opportunity to look for bands for future booking," Bennett said. "I'm still working with them after years," Bennett said. "This is a golden opportunity for the bands."

music more than they would otherwise," Love said. "It will be pretty different than the other performances."

Winning the competition is not the most important thing to his band, Love said.

"We're just interested in getting some local exposure and we're excited about doing something different," he said. "We would like for people to remember our performance."

Brown urinates in police car after brawl arrest

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Bobby Brown urinated inside a police car and gouged four-letter words into the upholstery after being arrested for a nightclub brawl, police said.

The singer, his publicist and his bodyguard were charged with aggravated assault and disorderly conduct Wednesday. They were released on $5,000 bail each.

Witnesses said Brown was talking to a woman at the Mannequin nightclub when a man tried to break into the conversation. After the woman said she didn't want to speak to the man, Brown and his companions beat him up, police said.

Brown, whose hits include "My Prerogative," is married to Whitney Houston.

Gore

Gore and Jones spend quality time in elevator

HOUSTON (AP) — Al Gore and Tommy Lee Jones got a chance to be roomies again, albeit in somewhat closer quarters.

The vice president and the actor, who shared dorm space at Harvard, were stuck in the Four Seasons Hotel elevator for about a half-hour Wednesday with Gore's security guards, Gore spokeswoman Lorraine Voles said.

That put the Gore entourage slightly behind schedule. He was in Houston for a private breakfast with the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee.

Bobbitt back in public eye with television spot

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — Lorena Bobbitt returns to the public eye tonight.

Bobbitt, who has started a foundation for victims of domestic violence, was to discuss the issue on the public access cable TV show "A House Divided."

Newton-John and husband to end 11-year marriage

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Olivia Newton-John and her husband agreed more hopelessly devoted to you.

Newton-John and actor Matt Lattimer have decided to separate after 11 years of marriage. They described the split as amicable.

"We have a great deal of respect for our relationship," they said in a statement Wednesday.

The two met in 1979 while filming "Xanadu." They have one child, who was born in 1985.
