

Seagram engages powerbroker Ovitz to head MCA Collapse

ANGELES (AP) — Seagram Co. Ltd.'s talks with top Hollywood talent agent Michael Ovitz to head MCA Inc. have collapsed, a source close to the negotiations said today.

Word that Ovitz won't head the studio came as Seagram announced the completion of its purchase of an 80 percent stake in MCA from Matsushita Electric Industrial Co. of Japan for $5.7 billion.

There was no immediate announcement on who would head MCA under Seagram, a Canadian beverage company. The source, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said it won't be Ovitz.

The source said Seagram's negotiations with Ovitz fell apart today over financial issues. Ovitz wanted a lucrative compensation package and asked that Seagram buy out his stake in his Creative Artists Agency for $250 million. The agency represents such stars as Tom Hanks, Meryl Streep and Sylvester Stallone.

Ovitz's lawyer did not immediately return telephone calls seeking comment.

MCA President Sid Sheinberg is now expected to remain at MCA through an indefinite transition period. Sheinberg did not immediately return a telephone call.

Seagram has never commented publicly on the reports of the talks with Ovitz. Spokesman Chris Tofalli said today that Seagram was "continuing to address the issue of management but we're not going to discuss individual names."

WRIGHT: Plenty of pretenders to NBA's best

Quarter Pounder in his Hanes. Well, the esteemed judge has chosen the player best suited for the first annual Lee Wright NBA Player of the Year Award. He possesses everything a franchise player should: an unstoppable shot, amazing quickness, outstanding defensive skills and most importantly, the desire to win and never give up.

He was last season's league MVP, Defensive Player of the Year and Finals MVP - the only player in history to accomplish that. But that was last year; what has he done this year?

Not much except for leading his team this season despite being diagnosed with anemia, toying with breaking Jordan's record for playoff scoring average and leading the No. 6 seed in the Western Conference to the NBA Finals. Oh yeah, that team beat the top three seeded teams in the conference - something that has never done before.

This season, "The Dream" has played exactly like his nickname: He just doesn't seem real.

Hakeem Olajuwon, I present you with the Lee Wright NBA Player of the Year Award. Your trophy is in the mail along with an early congratulations to you and your team for winning the NBA title again (Please, don't make me eat my words).

Attention! About face! "The Admiral" has now entered the race. David Robinson, the league's MVP, had one of the best statistical years in the NBA, but as stated earlier, the Wright award includes the performances of the candidates in the postseason too.

Robinson is probably the most focused player in the league and the best role model around. But his playoff downfall ruined the Spurs' chances of getting their hands on the elusive NBA crown. Once David and the Spurs can tame Dennis "The Worm" Rodman and play more as a team, they can grasp the coveted championship ring.

Now we come to the player regarded by many as the greatest of all time - Michael Jordan. Everyone wants to be like Mike, financially speaking, and his "second coming" this season would have been the greatest event in NBA history if the Bulls had made the Finals.

I have a tremendous deal of respect for M.J., but he will not be receiving the Wright award this year as he sits at home, sipping Gatorade out of his $130 sneakers while savoring a

Idaho student wins state jackpot

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Pam Hiatt was clear Monday on what she intends to do with her Powerball jackpot of nearly $87.6 million: "If I want it, I'll buy it."

The 26-year-old college student also said she will quit the Idaho National Guard and drop out of Boise State University, at least for a while.

"Today we're all getting new cars for the whole family," said Hiatt, who is expecting a child next month.

She accepted a ceremonial check from Gov. Phil Batt as her mother, sister and three brothers watched. Her first payment was $4.33 million before taxes.

She'll receive the rest in $4.4 million yearly chunks. It was the multistate game's fifth-highest jackpot.

"I'll invest part of it, most of it, new cars, new house, I guess whatever I want" Hiatt said. "If I want it, I'll buy it."
