UT ruling on Cowboys'

AUSTIN (AP) — A University of Texas hearing officer has upheld a ruling that the Cowboys spirit organization violated anti-hazing regulations with an initiation picnic during which a pledge drowned.

Gaylord Jentz, who presided over the proceeding and declined to comment on it Monday, also is expected to rule this week on the dean of students'

decision to banish the Cowboys from campus for five years.

The spirit group is known for firing Smokey the cannon during Longhorn

Dean of Students Sharon Justice and Jeff Rusk, lawyer for the parents of Gabriel Benjamin "Gabe" Higgins, said they were pleased with the decision. The sanctions were prompted after Higgins, a 19-year-old Cowboy pledge from Pocatello, Idaho, drowned

"Unilateral lift means unilateral responsibility," Clinton said in a letter to Capitol Hill, referring to congressional demands for the United States to act on its own to help the beleaguered Bosnians defend themselves. "Congress would undermine efforts to achieve a negotiated settlement in Bosnia and could lead to an escalation

of the conflict there."

But lawmakers frustrated by contin-

PROPOSAL

The regents will be briefed in detail this week on the new proposal during their budgetary workshop at Salado, Texas, a small town halfway between Austin and Waco. But the ninemember Board will vote on the proposal Aug. 31, unless a special meeting is planned otherwise.

Mary Nan West, Board chairman, previously said she would not approve the $14 general use fee increase unless University administrators proved it was necessary.

Dr. Barry B. Thompson, A&M chancellor, said West's comments prodded A&M administrators to take a closer look at the proposal.

"When the chairman of the Board of Regents says she is against something, it gets your attention," he said.

However, Thompson said the changes in the proposal do not guarantee Board approval.

"I don't think you can assume that it's a slam dunk by any means," Thompson said.

The new proposal drew mixed reviews from student government
