Late Monday night, the Colorado Rockies obtained Bret Saberhagen from the New York Mets; the Cincinnati Reds got David Wells from the Detroit Tigers; the Seattle Mariners ob-tained Andy Benes from the San Diego Padres; and the Boston Red Sox traded for Mike Stanton of the Atlanta Braves.

The late flurry capped a wild week in which the New York Yankees got pitcher David Cone from the Toronto Blue Jays and the Baltimore Orioles acquire some power by getting Bobby Bonilla from the Mets. Two firstplace AL teams, California and Cleveland, also picked up starters, the Angels getting Jim Abbott from the Chicago White Sox and the Indians getting Ken Hill from the St. Louis Cardi-

Trades can still be made, but players involved must now clear waivers

The Rockies, who have a 3 1/2-game lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the NL West, gave up minor league pitchers Juan Acevedo and Arnold Gooch to get Saberhagen, a two-time Cy Young Award winner who was 5-5 with a 3.35 ERA this season, his fourth with the Mets.

Colorado, who will also receive a minor leaguer to be named from the Mets, also obtained left-hander Bryan Hickerson from the Chicago Cubs for future considerations.

The Rockies, leading the NL West, have two starters on the disabled list — David Nied and Joe Grahe — and Bill Swift is bothered by a sore shoulder. The Rockies led the NL with a .282 batting average going into Monday's game, but were second-to-last with a 4.75 ERA. The Reds, the leaders in the NL Central by four games over Houston, got Wells in return for minor league pitchers C.J. Nitkowski and Dave Tuttle, and a player to be named later.

Wells, 32, has a 73-56 record in eight major league seasons. He was 10-3 with the Tigers this season, with a 3.04 ERA. He was 8-0 over his past nine starts.

"When you get to this point in July and you have a chance to improve your team you have to go out and do it, even if it means giving up a top prospect," Reds general manager Jim Bowden

The Mariners are making a run at their first postseason appearance and could get there with a wild-card berth as they are in third place in the AL West, 11 games behind Califor-

They gave up left-hander Ron Villone and outfielder Marc Newfield, both former No. 1 draft picks, and will receive a minor leaguer to be named.

Benes, 27, was 4-7 with a 4.17 ERA in 19 starts with the Padres. He was second in the NL with 126 strikeouts. In sevenyears with the Padres, he was 69-75 with a 3.57 ERA in 187 games.

"In Andy Benes, we have acquired one of the premier starting pitchers in the National League," Mariners vice president Woody Woodward said "Our ownership has recognized that (manager) Lou Piniella has the club in good position to make the postseason and this acquisition should be very beneficial to achieving that goal."

Injury to Bagwell deals Houston a bad hand budding Nation-

Someone give Jeff Bagwell a hand, please.

For the third straight year, the Astros' power-hitting first baseman has had his hand broken by an up-and-in fastball, and this year, it's going to cost the Astros big. Bagwell is expected to miss three to four weeks of playing, in other words, the entire month of August. To compensate, Houston is shifting starting third baseman Dave Magadan to first base and starting journeyman Craig Shipley at third base.

Magadan and Shipley are both very solid players. They both can field reasonably well, are hitting right around .300 and are tough hitters to get out in clutch situations.

But neither is anywhere close to Bagwell's caliber In July, Bagwell hit .330 and drove in 31 runs in 26 games. The 31 RBIs is an Astro record for a month. Bagwell is a virtual lock for National League Player of the Month, but it will certainly be a bittersweet award for last year's unanimous Most Valuable Player.

Even worse than the fact that Bagwell's stats will take a downswing is that the Astros have finally begun to make a serious run at the Cincinnati Reds in the National League's Central Division.

When Bagwell was plunked by Padre pitcher Brian Williams during Sunday's game at San Diego, the Astros were in the process of closing within 3 1/2 games of the Reds for the top spot in the division. It is the closest Houston has been to the top spot since early May.

The Astros currently are leading the National League in several offensive categories, including batting average, runs scored and runs batted in, and are still a strong hitting team without Bagwell.

But to compete with this year's cream of the crop in the National League - namely the Reds, Rockies and Braves - the Astros need all of their guns fully loaded for the war ahead.

It is now up to players like Craig Biggio, Dave Magadan and Tony Eusebio to shoulder the RBI load until early September. All three are having strong seasons, but all three have also spent the year being surrounded by Bagwell and
