Smith runs wild, leads Cowboys past Vikings in overtime, 23-17

□ The NFL's leading rusher rolled up 150 yards and the game-winning touchdown.

The run stunned the Vikings (1-2), who tied the game with 30 seconds left in regulation on an 8-yard pass from Warren Moon to Cris Carter. But the Cowboys (3-0) won the coin toss and needed just five plays to end the game.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys weren't super Sunday night, just good enough to win again. Emmitt Smith overcame a rare fumble with a 31-yard touchdown run in overtime to give the Cowboys a 23-17 victory over the Minnesota Vikings. Smith, who also scored on a 2-yard dive in the fourth quarter, broke through a huge hole on the left side and outran Charles Minny to the end zone marker just 2:26 into overtime.

Held to 27 yards in the first half, Smith finished with 150 yards on 20 carries for his third straight 100-yard game, only the second time in his career he has done that during the regular season. After rolling in its first two games, Dallas was sloppy against the inspired Vikings. Roy Barker and John Randle each sacked Troy Aikman once after Dallas came in as the only team in the league that didn't allow a sack in the first two weeks. But Charles Haley had two sacks as the Dallas defense helped overcome the offensive miscues. Smith's first fumble in 34 games led to Minnesota's first touchdown, a 3-yard pass from Moon to Jake Reed for a 10-6 lead 51 seconds into the second quarter. Chris Boniol, who missed the extra point after Dallas' first touchdown, made it 10-9 with a 39-yard field goal later in the second quarter, but the Cowboys wasted a 45-yard run by Smith when Boniol was wide right on a 20-yard field goal attempt in the third quarter. Dallas never let the Vikings cross midfield in the third quarter and finally regained the lead on its best drive of regulation. The Cowboys moved 80 yards in seven plays, including a 28-yard screen pass to Jay Novacek that gave them a first down at the Minnesota 2.

Ailing Oilers drop second straight game

□ The two teams combined for just seven points in the first three quarters.

pass to Haywood Jeffires, who made a leaping catch with defender Don Griffin hanging on his waist with 2:43 gone in the fourth quarter.

HOUSTON (AP) — A little defense from Stevon Moore, a little offense from Vinny Testaverde, and the Cleveland Browns had a little victory Sunday over the Houston Oilers.

Testaverde, who hit only 2-of-11 first half passes, needed only three minutes to give the lead back to the Browns. Testaverde set up the score with a 29-yard pass to Keenan McCardell to the Oilers 36 and finished the game hitting 10 of 23 passes for 147 yards and two touchdowns. Furrer, making his second NFL start, was booed in the first half but hung in there for 22-of-41 passes for 258 yards and four interceptions.

Moore, a cornerback, intercepted three passes by backup starter Will Furrer in the first half, helping the Browns get off to a 7-0 lead. And Testaverde rallied from a poor first half with a 35-yard touchdown pass to Michael Jackson with 9:17 to play, giving Cleveland a 14-7 victory. The Oilers (1-2) tied it with Furrer's 4-yard touchdown

Furrer, a last minute replacement for Chris Chandler, who sat out with game with a bruised left shoulder. It didn't take Moore long to react. The Browns used Moore's second interception of the game to set up Testaverde's 15-yard touchdown pass to McCardell. McCardell got behind safety Chuck Cecil and cornerback Cris Dishman in the end zone with 1:41 gone in the second quarter. Moore picked off Furrer and returned it 28 yards in the first quarter, stopping a Houston drive to the Browns 22. Moore's third theft was the most spectacular. Griffin deflected the ball away from receiver Chris Sanders, and Moore grabbed it at the Browns 1-yard line with 8:30 to go in the half. Linebacker Mike Caldwell got the fourth pick, ending the first half as Furrer threw into a crowd at the Browns' goal line. The Oilers have now lost 11 of their last 17 ballgames in the last two years.

SWC teams suffer up-and-down third week

□ Rice's 17-15 loss to Tulane was the lowlight of the conference's 3-5 record in non-conference games.

Oklahoma, as they've done 89 times before. They're 52-33-4 against the Sooners and 80-48-4 against all of the Big Eight teams.

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Tech was the first Southwest Conference team to get a taste of one of its future Big 12 mates, and it welcomed traditional Big Eight punching bag Missouri with open arms.

The only schools from the looming Big 12 Conference that Baylor will play this season are the same ones they've been butting heads with since the Bears began playing SWC football in 1915. Baylor is 18-17 against the Big Eight. The Bears defeated Oklahoma State 14-10 last year. In the new Big 12 scheme, the Texas schools will align with Oklahoma and Oklahoma State — original SWC members when the league was formed in 1915 at the Oriental Hotel in Dallas — in the southern tier of the new league.

The Tigers left Lubbock with their tails between their legs Saturday after a 41-14 shellacking. "This is no time for us to become divided as a football team," Missouri coach Larry Smith said. "We can't feel sorry for ourselves." Last year, the Red Raiders weren't so lucky with another future league rival — Nebraska beat them 42-16.

The six schools will play one another each year and play four of the other six each season. The champions of each division will meet at a site to be determined this season for the conference championship. Figuring out Southern Methodist this year appears to be an exercise in futility.

The Raiders' first-ever game against a current Big Eight team was in 1933, when Tech dropped Kansas 6-0 in the last game of the season. Overall, Tech enjoys a 22-13-3 record against what will become their new conference foes. They hadn't played Missouri until this season.

The Mustangs opened with quarterback Ramon Flanagan going down for the season with a dislocated hip in the first play of the first game, then somehow upset Arkansas. But the Mustangs made like a canoe and got paddled 33-2 by a Navy battleship they weren't pre-

The Aggies, who stayed at No. 3, face off against fellow national power No. 7 Colorado on Saturday in the first-ever meeting between the schools. Over history, Texas A&M has played each of the other seven teams, posting a 25-20 mark against them. The Longhorns, who moved up two spots to No. 13, will continue their yearly border battle with Ok-had to improvise on pass rushes without the 6-4, 250-pound menace to quarterbacks. "One injury has a domino effect with several other players," coach John Mackovic said. Senior Brian Vasek replaced Brackens, who was a team co-leader in tackles last year with 90. The Longhorns will also be without right offensive tackle Dominic Bustamante, who went down with a strained ligament in his right knee. He also might miss four games, including next week's clash at Notre Dame.

Rice's 17-15 loss to Tulane was the fourth straight by a Ken Hatfield-coached team to the Green Wave. Hatfield's Air Force teams dropped two games to Tulane and he is 0-2 against them at Rice. The all-time Rice-Tulane series now is at 10-10-1.

"My congratulations go to Tulane. They have made a great improvement from their first game (a loss to Maryland)," Hatfield said. "I think they are a much better team than we faced a year ago (in a 15-13 loss that was Tulane's only victory of the year)."

When Jackie Sherrill built a juggernaut at Texas A&M in the 1980s, he developed a program that began a reign of terror over the SWC that should continue through the league's final year.

Even with Sherrill's absence from the SWC since 1988, he has still managed to inflict pain on his former foes. Mississippi State's 30-21 win over Baylor Saturday makes Sherrill 3-0 against his old league.
