"Sisters stay home," Torray said. "Keep your children home. You be the teacher."

The march was called by Louis

Farrakhan and the Nation of Islam, Torray said, but is really designed to bring all people who be-lieve in God together, whatever name they call him by.
"This is not a Muslim thing;

this is not a Farrakhan thing, she said. "This is a black thing.

African-Americans should not avoid going to the march for fear of being labeled an anti-Semite, because the march is one of atonement for all religions, she said.

Morris said other events are being planned for a similar rally Oct. 16 at A&M, but the real lessons deal with more than just one day's activities.

The speech was sponsored by the Nation of Islam, the A&M Pan-Hellenic Council and the Department of Multicultural
