HELP WANTED

Three ways to beat the high cost of college.

1. The Montgomery GI Bill
2. Student loan repayment
3. Part-time income

The Army Reserve Alternate Training Program is a smart way to pay for college.

First, if you qualify, the Montgomery GI Bill can provide you with up to $6,920 for current college expenses or approved vo/tech training.

Second, if you have—or obtain—a qualified student loan not in default, you may get it paid off at the rate of 15% per year or $500, whichever is greater, up to a maximum of $10,000. Selected military skills can double that maximum.

Third, you can earn part-time money in college, and here's how it works: One summer you take Basic Training, and the next summer you receive skill training at an Army school. You'll earn over $1,500 for Basic and even more for skill training. Then you'll attend monthly meetings at an Army Reserve unit near your college, usually one weekend a month plus two weeks a year. You'll be paid over $105 a weekend to start. It's worth thinking about. Give us a call:

Ag Swim teams hit SWC road

□ A&M will face TCU and SMU in this weekend's competition.

By Lisa Nance
THE BATTALION

The Texas A&M Swimming and Diving teams will wrap up its four-meet road stand this weekend with two Southern Conference dual meets.

Tonight, the teams face Texas Christian University at Ft. Worth at 5:00 p.m. at the Rickel Swim Center on the TCU campus. Saturday's teams will head to Dallas for 1:00 p.m. face off against Southern Methodist University at Perkins Natatorium.

The women's team, coached by Don Wagner, goes into the weekend ranked No. 18 in the preseason Speedo America Top 25 Poll. Assistant Women's Swimming Coach Team Steve Wolfe looks at this weekend as an opportunity to see what kind of competition the women will face this season.

"Basically this early in the season the meets are a chance for the women to go and see where they are at in their training," Wolfe said. "That's what we're going to do."

Last weekend in Houston the women's team placed third and the men placed fourth at the SWC Relays.

The A&M men's team coached by Mel Nash, placed second in the 1500-free relay. Senior Scott DeWolf, freshman Jason Miles and junior No. 1 Randall swam the race in 14:20.82 to place second.

Sophomore diver Jarrod Flores recorded A&M's only victory on the boards with 298.70 individual points in the men's one-meter. The Aggie men's diving team finished second to Texas.

The women divers placed fifth on both the one-meter and the three-meter.

In tonight's meet, the Aggies meet up with the Horned Frogs from TCU. The Horned Frogs are led by butterfly stylist Shelia Hewardine and Debbie Stevens, as well as backstroke specialist Jamie Bobo.

On the men's side, 1995 NCAA qualifier Walter Scharf and distance free stylist Chad Kern, along with sprinter Matt Houston lead the Frogs.

The SMU teams return to All-Americans and six SWC Champions combined.

After this weekend the Aggies will finally make their debut at the new home facility, the 1,300-seat Student Recreation Center Natatorium on Nov. 3, when they challenge future Big 12 foe Nebraska.

has struggled, the defense has shined. However, Walker knows not just one group can win the game for the team.

"Our coaches have always said that there is no one group, or aspect of the team that can win the game," Walker said. "The defense can't win without the offense. We've tried to feed the offense off of our success and pick them up because there are going to be times when they have to pick us up. A team divided, a house divided is destined to fall so we've got to stay together and that's what we're trying to do right now."

With tomorrow's game, Walker and the rest of the Aggie team are looking to continue the winning tradition that brought him to A&M. In fact, the thought of losing does not enter his mind.

"I've never gone into a game where I thought we were going to lose," Walker said. "That's like a tradition passed down from the old guys to the younger guys. There are a lot of times in the game where you think 'What am I going to do?' I looked at the clock (at the SMU game) and saw that we had 50 seconds left and I was like 'We've got 50 seconds left. We can try something.'"
