NEWS BRIEFS

Day-care center designs on display today

The Texas A&M College of Architecture will display designs for an on-campus day-care center today at 5 p.m. in 601 Rudder Tower.

The designs were prepared by 17 architecture students in an advanced architecture class.

The presentation is open to the public.

Shin Bet told in advance of plot to kill Rabin

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — In the latest evidence of a stunning intelligence failure, the Shin Bet security agency acknowledged Sunday that it had advance information about the assassin of Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin.

In a court appearance, the confessed assassin's brother said he received weapons from a sergeant in an elite army unit, who is the seventh detained suspect. The assassin's brother was ordered held for 12 more days.

As the official mourning period ended, more than 200,000 Israelis streamed into newly named Yitzhak Rabin Square in a defiant replay of the peace rally where a Jewish extremist shot down the prime minister eight days before. It was believed to be the biggest gathering ever in Israel.

Even as the square was filled with flags, candles, cardboard doves and signs reading "Enough Death," Israeli troops began pulling out of the West Bank town of Jenin, as provided by the autonomy agreement signed by Rabin and PLO chief Yasser Arafat in September.

LOUPOT

Darling stressed how much Loupot tried to help students, including lending merchandise and money, based only on Aggie word. "He was always willing to do so much for students," he said. "We're mighty sad to see him go."

A large portion of what is now the Dixie Chicken was once a part of Loupot's original store before it was moved to its current location at 335 University Drive.

Don Ganter, Dixie Chicken owner, had a lot to say about Loupot. "Have you got four or five days?" he asked. "For these past 40 or 50 years he's just been a quintessential cheerleader for Texas A&M."

"Whenever you meet him, you walk away with a smile. He was just a real dynamic person. If anyone bled maroon, it was him."

Ganter said Loupot was a positive, upbeat man who wanted everyone around him to feel good.

"I don't know what words to use," he said. "He befriended every Aggie that came through the door. Gosh, he just never met anyone he didn't like."

John Raney, Texas Aggie bookstore owner, said that while he was building his store to compete with Loupot's store, Ol' Army Lou would often bring him drinks and talk to him.

"He was a friendly guy and a good friend," Raney said.

Shri Parchure, textbook manager for Loupot's at Northgate, said the passing is still unbelievable.

"I am in shock," Parchure said. "On one hand, we knew it was going to happen. He was 85 years old. He had lived a very full life. When it happens, it really hits you."

Parchure said he has known Loupot for the last 16 or 17 years and has observed many examples of Loupot's generosity.

"He used to help A&M students in any way that he could," he said. "He did so many little things for so many students that you couldn't even count them."

Funeral services for Loupot will be held Tuesday, Nov. 14 at 11 a.m. at A&M United Methodist church. Loupot will be buried at the College Station City Cemetery.

Memorials can be made to the Old Army Lou Student Assistance Program, care of Agricultural Development Office, 113 Administration Building, College Station, Texas, 77843-2142.
