

Lewis, Gervin head Hall nominees BUFFIN

□ Jerry Tarkanian and Jo Jo White area also collegiate nominees.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Jerry Tarkanian, who has the best won-loss record in college coaching history and a record of disputes almost as long with the NCAA, was nominated for the Basketball Hall of Fame.

Tarkanian, who came out of retirement to coach Fresno State, is one of five coaches, 14 players and one contributor whose names were submitted by a nominating committee for consideration by the Hall of Fame's Honors Committee.

Election requires 18 votes from the 24-member committee.

Also on the list announced today were Texas-El Paso coach Don Haskins, Houston coach Guy Lewis, longtime college and professional coach Tex Winter, and Antonio Dias-Miguel, who coached Spain's National Team for 27 years.

Nominated as players were George Gervin, one of the game's most prolific scorers; Jo Jo White, who helped boost the Celtics to two NBA titles after starring at Kansas; defensive ace Dennis Johnson and David Thompson, who led North Carolina State to the NCAA title in 1974 and then starred for Denver.

Also nominated were Dick Barnett, who won two NBA championships with the New York Knicks; Roger Brown, who boosted Indiana to three ABA titles, and two men — Gail Goodrich and Jamaal Wilkes, who starred for UCLA a decade apart and then the Lakers.

Also approved by the nominating committee were Larry Costello, who played for 12 years with Philadelphia and Syracuse before turning to coaching, and two big centers —

Artis Gilmore a standout at Jacksonville State before an 18-year pro career and the late Kresimir Cosic, an international star who played at Brigham Young.

Nominated by the veterans committee were Arnie Risen, a rugged rebounder who helped boost Rochester to the 1951 NBA title and George Yardley, who in 1958 became the first player in NBA history to score 2,000 points in one season.

Nancy Lieberman-Cline, an Olympic silver medal winner at age 17, led Old Dominion to two national collegiate championships and then became the first woman to play in a men's professional league with the Springfield Fame of the United States Basketball League, was tabbed by the women's nominating committee. Also nominated was Carol Eckman, who started the first national women's collegiate championship tournament in 1969.

Tarkanian leads college coaches with an 83.7 winning percentage over 24 seasons at Long Beach State where his teams were 116-17 and at the UNLV where he had a 509-105 record and the 1990 NCAA title.

In 31 years of coaching at the major and junior college level he has never had a losing season. Controversy and NCAA investigations and allegations that he at last bent the rules have followed him from Long Beach to UNLV and now to Fresno.

every Thursday before a game and chat with R.C. But the men can bring their wives one night of the year. Oh what a privilege.

It is assumed that members of the Quarterback Club know that there are 11 players on the team, just because they are men. Demonstrations of formations and pertinent information, such as the fact that the referee is the one who has a white hat on, are not discussed because, of course, men know these things.

While I will admit that I did learn a few things that I did not already know about, there are a few men who I can think of who could have learned something new last night as well. I am sick and tired of being singled out as needing some extra assistance in learning about football just because I am a woman.

When Slocum opened the floor to questions, the question that the women asked were quite intelligent. It sounded like they knew a thing or two about football.

Can you imagine if they had a Chalk Talk for men so that they could learn about the art of cleaning a bathroom? Have Donna Reed come in and teach men how to clean a toilet and bathtub.

Many men know how to clean a bathroom and would be insulted if Reed showed them how to lift the seat before cleaning the toilet.

All I'm saying is that if you are going to hold a Chalk Talk, invite anyone who wants to learn more about football. Don't single out a specific group and assume that they don't know anything and therefore must be taught.

Give women a little credit. We do know something about football and sports. If we want to learn more, then we don't need to be taught like we are the biggest idiots in the world.
