Swimmers pull dual upsets

Evan Zimmerman, THE BATTALION

Members of the A&M Men's Swimming leap to a start in one of Friday's freestyle races. The A&M men defeated the 15th-ranked LSU Tigers in a 133-110 victory this weekend.

Both of the A&M Swimming and Diving Teams beat ranked LSU squads.

Staff and Wire Reports

The Texas A&M Men's and Women's Swimming and Diving Teams both upset the nationally-ranked Louisiana State University Tigers Friday afternoon in dual meet action.

The 18th-ranked A&M women bested the No. 16 Lady Tigers by a score of 152-88, winning 12 of 13 events to notch the team's first dual meet victory over LSU since a 65-46 win in 1990.

Leading the way for the Lady Aggies was senior Denean Knapp, who scored victories in the 50- and 100-meter freestyle after helping the 400-medley relay team to a win with a time of 3:50.36.

Freshman Tammy Lee took first in the 200-back with a time of 2:03.25, a mere .15 seconds short of the A&M school record set by Hadas Pade in 1993.

"We have some people from Louisiana on this team who were especially interested in performing at this meet, and they swam like it," A&M Head Women's Swimming Coach Don Wagner said. "This is a team we haven't beaten since 1990, and we won every event except the 200-IM. That's a good feeling."

In addition, the A&M men posted a 133-110 victory over the 15th-ranked Tigers. They collected nine first-place awards en route to the win.

Freshman Jason Miles continued his undefeated reign in the 1000-free by racking up his fifth consecutive victory of the season with a time of 9:29.67. In addition, he captured another first in the 500-free.

"We're better than people predicted this year," A&M Head Men's Swimming Coach Mel Nash said. "The guys are swimming tough. They are focused, and they are a cohesive group, which is doing a lot for the performances we're getting."

For the men, the difference in the meet came down to diving, and A&M Head Diving Coach Kevin Wright's group delivered.

Freshman sensation Mark Naftanel accumulated a school-record 327.82 points to win the three-meter title, while sophomore Jarrod Flores won his fifth one-meter crown in six meets with 305.02 points.

On the women's side, sophomore Jodi Janssen took first on both boards, scoring 254.92 points on the one-meter and 274.87 points on the three-meter to complete the sweep, while freshmen Jamie and Jennifer Spychalski finished fourth and fifth, respectively, in both competitions.

Cotton Bowl not Tier One, but still big

The New Year's Day clash will pit Colorado against Oregon.

DALLAS (AP) — Don't let the Cotton Bowl isn't a major game anymore.

As expected, bowl officials announced Sunday that the schools will meet in Dallas Jan. 1 in the first Cotton Bowl Classic without a Southwest Conference team since 1939.

The game was not selected, one of the three Tier 1 bowls that will host national championship-caliber competition. Cotton Bowl President John Crawford was pleased with the matchup of 9-2 teams.

"We think it's going to be a great game and couldn't be more pleased to have this line-up of nationally ranked teams," Crawford said.

The No. 8 Buffaloes and No. 12 Ducks each needed victories Saturday to pick Cotton Bowl. Colorado knocked off then-No. 10 Kansas State 27-17 while Oregon escaped lightly regarding Oregon State 12-10.

"We're very excited. The fans are beside themselves," Oregon athletic director Bill Moos said.

The 60th Cotton Bowl will feature two rookie coaches, Mike Bellotti of Oregon and Tom Neuheisel of Colorado.

Each replaced a respectable coach. Oregon's Rich Brooks after 18 years to take over the NFL's St. Louis Rams. Bill Moos resigned at Colorado after 13 years to devote more time to his family.

In a conference call Sunday, Neuheisel recalled a chance meeting with Bellotti last summer when the two crossed paths on a Northern California recruiting trip.
