Wings 'N' More honors Lady Ags Tuesday

Wings 'N' More Restaurant at 1045 S. Texas Ave. will host a special celebration to commemorate the Lady Aggies 1996 Southwest Conference Tournament Basketball Championship Tuesday from 6-8 p.m.

Head Coach Candi Harvey, her staff and team members will be on hand, and fans are welcome to watch and listen to replays of the SWC championship game and see the conference trophy.

The celebration will feature presentations and drawings for special prizes and will be hosted by Tom Turville, voice of the Lady Aggies' play-by-play broadcasts.

For more information, contact Mary Jo Prince at 260-2039.

Magic, Lakers keep Spurs in mini-slump

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Vlade Divac had 19 points and 11 rebounds and Eddie Jones scored 13 of his 19 points in the third quarter Sunday as the Los Angeles Lakers beat the suddenly cold San Antonio Spurs 107-97.

San Antonio's David Robinson had 40 points and 11 rebounds in a losing cause, the third time he's scored 40 or more points in a game this season.

After being held to three points in the first half — all on foul shots — Jones came alive as the Lakers outscored the Spurs 29-23 in the third period to go ahead for good.

After winning a franchise-record 17 straight games and going 16-0 in March, the Spurs have lost three of four.

Patriots overwhelm odds, Aggies

Staff and Wire Reports

With all the concern given last week to Dallas Baptist University's vaunted hitting attack, who would have thought the Patriots' pitching would have given Texas A&M so much trouble?

Such was the case Saturday at Olsen Field as DBU swept the Aggie Baseball Team in a doubleheader, 5-4 and 6-2. The two losses dropped A&M to 25-13 on the year and gave A&M five losses in its last six games.

In the first game, Aggie hitters combined for 16 hits, but they also went a combined 4-of-18 with runners in scoring position. In all, A&M left 14 runners on base, compared to just two by the Patriots.

DBU pitcher Aaron Lineweaver played with fire all afternoon, giving up 16 hits in eight and two-thirds innings pitched, somehow giving up only four earned runs while improving to 8-1 on the year.

Texas A&M sophomore Shane King pitched exceptionally well for the Aggies, going the distance while giving up just six hits and only two earned runs, but he eventually took the loss to drop to 5-2 in 1996.

The one bright spot in the first game was the performance of A&M freshman designated hitter Jason Tyner. Tyner went 5-for-5 at the plate, one hit shy of the Texas A&M school record set by Mike Hickey in 1991 against Westmont.

Tyner also recorded his team-leading 26th stolen base of the year, putting him within range of the all-time Aggie record.

With 16 games plus the potential for action in the Southwest Conference tournament, Tyner is 10 steals away from Chuck Knoblauch's single-season steal mark of 36 set in 1989. Tyner already owns the Aggie freshman record for steals, and with one more steal will tie Billy Harlan's 1993 mark of 27 bases — the third most in Aggie history.

The second game was an error-filled mess that proved how bad A&M's luck was. Although Dallas Baptist recorded seven of the game's 10 errors, Patriot pitcher Scott Mullen continually worked his way out of trouble while going the distance to improve to 6-0 on the season.

Mullen gave up just five hits while striking out eight batters to outduel A&M's John Sneed, who went seven innings, giving up four earned runs while striking out eight.

In the second game, the Patriots scored two runs in the top of the first, and kept the Aggies from ever leading during the doubleheader.

The Aggies closed within 2-1 with a run in the bottom of the second, but Dallas Baptists proceeded to score three runs over the next three innings to establish a 5-1 lead going to the final three innings.

The Aggies got as close as 5-2 in the bottom of the seventh but were blanked over the final two innings in front of a disappointed crowd of 1,486.

Friday's game against Dallas Baptist was cancelled because of inclement weather.

The Aggies will attempt to break their slump and a two-game home losing streak Tuesday when they host Southwest Texas State in a doubleheader beginning at 5 p.m. at Olsen Field.

Sooners KO Lady Ags twice

Staff and Wire Reports

The Texas A&M Softball Team found out what it was like to play Big 12 competition this weekend.

It's not very fun. The Big 12-leading Oklahoma Sooners used dominating pitching to sweep the Lady Aggies in a doubleheader in Norman, 4-2 and 6-2.

The usually-productive Aggie offense managed only nine hits in the two games as Sooner pitchers Jill Most and Jennifer Jaime pitched back-to-back complete games against A&M.

The Lady Aggies hung tough against Oklahoma in the first game, and took a 2-0 lead in the top of the fourth inning on an RBI single by Kami Tucker and an error by OU second baseman Brenda Rogers.

Perhaps something in the Lady Aggies' attack spurred the Sooners, for in the bottom of the inning, they started their own rally. By the time it was over, Texas A&M starter Trina Solse-

Say it ain't so, Too Tall ... Athletes hit the big screen

NICK GEORGANDIS
SPORTS EDITOR

Dallas Cowboy megastar "Too Tall" Jones.

Oh, Too Tall, did you learn nothing during your little professional boxing stint?

Jones' debacle on Cinemax made me ponder why so many people are bitten with the acting bug just because they happen to be quite large in another field.

Certainly Jones is not the first professional athlete to try his hand in front of the camera, but so many have done such a better job.

What? You'd like a top 10 list to help you gain further insight onto my theory? Well, all right.

10. Well, I could only think of nine, so Too Tall Jones in Hologram Man gets it by default. But, read on! The next nine are quality, family entertainment!

9. John Salley as a convict/computer whiz in Bad Boys. Call it the most useless cameo in film history. Salley is in the movie for
