Journalist told to identify source in Jackson trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A judge on Wednesday gave a free-lance journalist 20 days to identify a source who he said told about a videotape allegedly depicting Michael Jackson having sex with a 13-year-old boy. Under California Shield Law, writer Victor Gutierrez lost his right to keep the source confidential because Jackson's attorneys have not been able to find infor-mation about the purported tape, Superior Court Judge Reginald

Dunn said. Jackson alleged in a $100 million slander suit filed in Jan-uary 1995 that Gutierrez lied about having access to the purported 27minute tape. Robert Gold-man, a lawyer said his client is out of the country working on a book about the self-proclaimed King of Pop and the boy who sued him based on allegations of child molestation.

Also Wednesday, a federal magistrate ordered Jackson to be deposed for a second time in a breach of contract lawsuit filed after the "Jackson Family Honors" television special. The magistrate agreed to Jackson's request to be questioned in a hotel room where his guards can secure the building.
