Bulls show no mercy, crush Sonics 108-86

Jordan blew the game open with 15 consecutive points in 2nd quarter

SEATTLE (AP) — All that remains is the formality of Game 4. The NBA Finals are more or less over.

Michael Jordan and the Chicago Bulls steamrolled the Seattle SuperSonics on Sunday, putting on as mighty a performance as they've given all postseason.

They led by 22 before the first quarter was over, got 15 consecutive points from Jordan in the second, withstood a Seattle run in the third and cruised through the fourth for a 108-86 victory and a 3-0 lead in the series.

"In the first half we basically took the crowd out of the game," Jordan said. "We pretty much wanted to control things, and that's what we did."

No team has ever come back from a 3-0 deficit in any playoff round, and the Sonics don't look like much of a candidate to be the first — especially after what they saw in Game 3.

The Bulls quieted Key Arena right from the start, kept their lead in double digits for the final 42 1/2 minutes and walked off the court looking as proud as the champions they seem certain to become.

"When we get on the road,"

Jordan said, "we become a little more focused."

Game 4 is Wednesday night, and a victory by the Bulls would give them a sweep of the series and the best postseason record in playoff history: 15-1. The current record is 12-1 by the Philadelphia 76ers in 1983.

It was the ninth victory in a row for Chicago, tying the 1982 Los Angeles Lakers for the second-most consecutive wins in a single postseason.

The record is 11, which the Bulls won't be able to match, but it's about the only great thing that can't be said about them.

Jordan led Chicago with 36 points, Luc Longley had 19 and Toni Kukoc 14. Chicago, which had struggled from the field in the first two games, finished at 50 percent from the field and forced 21 turnovers from a thoroughly overmatched Seattle team.

After a pair of mediocre yet effective performances at home in the first two games, the Bulls seemed determined to make themselves click as the series moved West.

They started the game precise and nearly perfect, taking a 7-0 lead on a lefty hook by Longley, a side jumper by Kukoc and a 3-pointer by Jordan before the game was two minutes gone.

Just two minutes later, the lead was up to 13-2 on a jumper from the lane by Jordan, and after five straight points by Kukoc and a foul shot by Pippen, it was 19-4 with 6:07 left.

Longley had consecutive shots inside, Jordan hit a jumper and a 3-pointer and then made a steal, feeding Pippen for a fastbreak dunk that was followed by yet another, this one by Rodman off an assist by Pippen, for a 34-12 lead.

It was 34-16 after one period, two points off record lead of 20 by the 1970 Los Angeles Lakers.

The second quarter belonged to Jordan, who took over the show with a display uniquely his. He made four foul shots, hit a high-arching fadeaway from 14 feet, buried a wide open jumper from the side and swished a 3-pointer from straightaway for a 56-35 lead.

His next shot was another long jumper with his foot on the 3-point line, again nothing but net, and then bounced around on one foot and did a sort of backpedal strut downcourt. The 15-point burst ended with a pair of free throws, and Pippen scored the last two points of the half on a pretty driving bank shot from six feet away.

It made the score 62-38, and a smattering of boos were heard as the Sonics sulked off the court.

Longley scored the first basket of the second half, and Seattle responded with a 16-2 run to draw to 66-54.

"I thought we were going to give it away in the third," Jordan said.

Steve Kerr ended the run with a 3-pointer and Chicago opened the fourth quarter with a 6-0 run ending with a three-point play by Jordan.

"Yes! Yes!" Pippen said from the bench.

The threat was over and so, pretty much, was the game. And the series.

Golf

schedule was much tougher this year. The experience we got playing in the big tournaments will help us [next year]."

On March 29 through 31, the Lady Aggies competed against Arizona State and San Jose State, both nationally ranked, in the Ping/ASU Invitational.

"It's a good learning experience to play against top teams and see what you have to do [to compete against them]," said sophomore Jamie Hullett.

In five of the nine tournaments, the Aggies finished in the top ten, in the top five three times, and finished first place at the TAMU Bookstore/Welsh Memorial Tournament in February.

"I feel good about it," he said. "Of course, we're looking into the unknown. But I think the ingredients are there to have a very strong team. We have a chance to be very competitive."

On the women's side, Kristina Edfors is the only team member who will not be back next season.

Edfors averaged a score of 77.75 during the season, earning All-SWC honor and a place in Golf World's Top 50.

SUTHERLAND

Freshman Jamie Hullett said Edfors' leadership skills and positive attitude will be missed.

"She's a motivator," Hullett said. "She kept us up when we weren't playing good. She kept it positive."

Like her counterpart on the men's squad, Sutherland is optimistic about the women's chances next season.

"We'll have everybody back except Kristina," Sutherland said. "Jamie [Hullett] and Isabelle [Rosberg] will step up. It's going to be tough to replace [Edfors] consistency, but we'll be okay."

Better Ingredients. Better Pizza.
