Off the Beaten Path

New bar combines mature atmosphere with travel theme to bring new personality to Northgate

Dave House, THE BATTALION

Laura Gerkey, a senior chemical engineering major, serves one of the 14 beers Crooked Path keeps on tap. The bar also offers specialized beers, wine, cappuccino and some food.

THE BATTALION

Sometimes you wanna go where everybody knows your name.

Crooked Path Ale House on Northgate is bringing a friendly bar atmosphere to Aggieland.

Manager David Harger said Crooked Path hopes to target people who want to enjoy good, fresh beer, wine and champagne.

"When I was younger, I drank for quantity," Harger said. "Now I drink for quality. We hope that the people who come here will be looking for quality."

Crooked Path opened for business Aug. 23, and Harger said it has had a good response.

"We already have a few regulars," Harger said. "I'll buy them a beer — we try to give them good treatment."

The bar has a travel theme, which owners Don and Cheryl Anz chose because of their travel experiences.

"We went to Europe and really liked the ale houses there," Don Anz said. "We drove by Northgate Cafe one day and noticed it was for lease, so we checked it out. It had the English style beams and windows, and the brick front that made it look like a pub."

The bar has taken on a sophisticated character because the employees plan to strictly enforce a 21 and up policy.

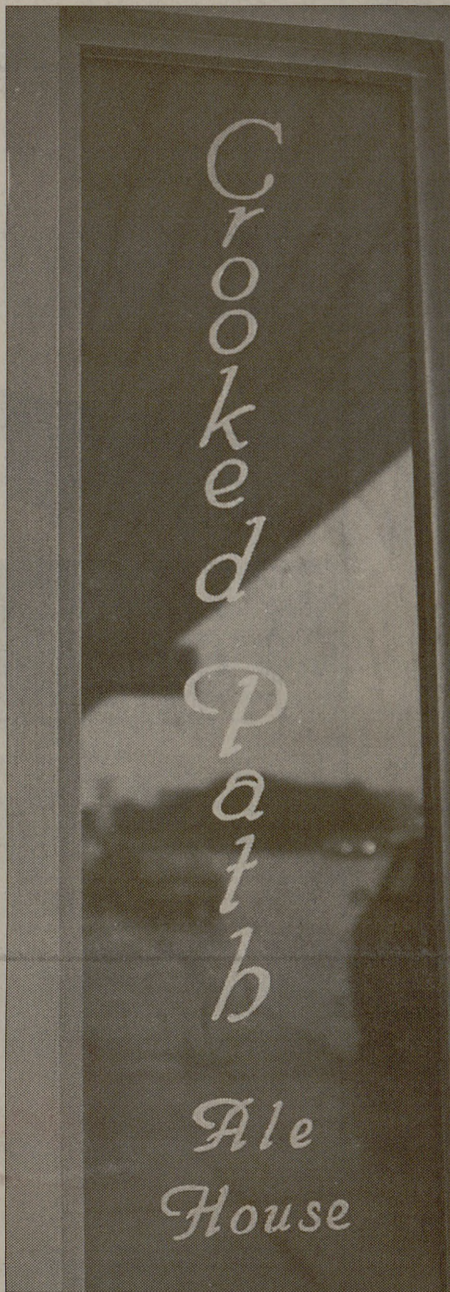

"Our customers just come in, sip on a beer, read a magazine or just talk," Harger said. "We've already had several people say, 'This is going to be my bar, where I'll hang out.'"

Cheryl Anz said their involvement in the Northgate Revitalization project makes Northgate an important location for them.

"We want to be a part of improving the Northgate area," Cheryl Anz said. "We were students here ourselves, so it means a lot to us."

The Anzes hope to make the bar more accessible with the addition of a 153-space parking lot next August.

"We plan to have a supervised, landscaped, free parking lot so that people can get a ticket and walk around Northgate without having to park six blocks away in the mud," Don Anz said.
