► This day in history

(AP) — Today is Thursday, Oct. 24, the 298th day D. Eisenhower declared, "I shall go to Korea," as he of 1996. There are 68 days left in the year. On this date:

In 1861, the first transcontinental telegraph message was sent as Justice Stephen J. Field of California transmitted a telegram to President Lincoln.

In 1901, Anna Edson Taylor, a 43-year-old widow, became the first person to survive going over Niagara Falls in a barrel.

In 1931, the George Washington Bridge, connecting New York and New Jersey, opened to traffic. In 1939, nylon stockings were sold publicly for the first time, in Wilmington, Del. In 1940, the 40-hour work week went into effect under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938. In 1945, the United Nations officially came into existence as its charter took effect. In 1952, Republican presidential candidate Dwight

Police conclude car wreck investigation

The Bryan Police Department has concluded the investigation of the Sept. 22 truck accident that claimed the life of one Texas A&M student and injured nine others.

After a month-long investigation of accident reports, witness statements and physical evidence test results, police concluded that traveling at an unsafe speed caused the accident. The truck was traveling approximately 76 mph in a 70 mph zone.

Sarah Marie Fullen, driver of the truck and a sophomore history major, was issued a traffic ticket for unsafe speed — too fast for conditions.

Juveniles hold A&M student at gunpoint

Monday at about 10:52 p.m., a 22-year-old Texas A&M student was held at gunpoint by two juveniles who demanded money from him. When the victim showed them he did not have any money, the subjects ran away.

A UPD patrol officer stopped the 15- and 16-year-old subjects in Parking Area 40. The officer found a .357-caliber Magnum revolver on the 16-year-old and a .40-caliber semi-automatic pistol on the 15year-old. Both handguns were loaded and were possibly stolen in a burglary.

The officer also found marijuana on the subjects.

Both subjects were taken to the Juvenile Detention Center and were charged with aggravated robbery in an area where weapons are prohibited.

"As I've said before, this campus is a microcosm of society,' UPD Director Bob Wiatt said. "Folks have to be aware that bad things happen here.

The subjects were from the north side of Bryan.

Surgery result of possible KA hazing

A member of the Kappa Alpha Order had a testicle surgically removed as a result of a possible hazing incident on Oct. 14.

The University Police Department referred the case to the Brazos County Sheriff's Department.

Officials say the case is currently under investigation by the Department of Student Affairs.

Former cadet could be victim of hazing

The father of a Texas A&M Corps of Cadets' member called the University Police Department on Oct. 21 to report that his son was possibly a victim of hazing.

The student had sup considered leaving the Co peers allegedly gave his ket party" and spit in his
