"No organization will ever get better until the leadership is willing to admit something is broken," Schwarzkopf said. "Zero defects is the stupidest motto anyone can adopt if you are in the business of leading people."

Schwarzkopf compared his ex-periences in Vietnam and the Persian Gulf War to explain this part of the "leadership formula."

During Vietnam the Army was a "can-do" Army, Schwarzkopf said. Anything that was asked of the soldiers in Vietnam, the answer was always "Can do, sir.'

After the Vietnam War, Schwarzkopf said, the Army realized "No organization it had to change its way of conducting will ever get business and start recognizing what better until the was "broken." leadership is Recognizing an organization's problems, he said, involves making members feel comfortable voicing their opinions.

Establishing goals within the organization is the second part of Schwarzkopf's "leadership formula."

"Goals keep your organization focused on what's important," he said.

The reason Desert Storm was a success, Schwarzkopf said, was because everyone in the chain of command knew what the goal

H. Chester Jones, the Republican challenger, earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from A&M, has a military background and years of business experience.

If elected, Jones said he has a plan to increase voter registration among A&M students.

He said his office would team up with the University and possibly create a procedure to allow students to register to vote and register for classes simultaneously.

Incumbent Tax Assessor-Collector Gerald "Buddy" Winn has 26 years of experience in property taxation. He is a registered Tax Assessor-Collector and professional appraiser.

He has served 18 years as the Tax Assessor-Collector for the Brazos County and recently assumed ence qualifies him.
