J-BBOARD

Since the referendum will not be implemented by Student Government action, a group of students started a petition Thursday regarding yell leader run-off elections.

The students need 10 percent of the student body to sign the petition. If they get the required amount of signatures, another vote will be held on the elections.

This referendum would not need the Student Senate's approval to be implemented. The students' goal is to get 5,000 signatures and 1,300 were gathered by Sunday afternoon.

RUSH

Individual fraternities had different rush functions from Jan. 16 to Jan. 23, such as bowling and date parties, to help rushees decide which fraternity would be the most suitable for them.

The Rush Kickoff was at Hurricane Harry's on Jan. 15.

On Jan. 16, an IFC Rush Seminar was held to give rushees information about the different fraternities.

Vroonland said the seminar focused on the "responsibilities of Greek life," and stressed that fraternity members were "Aggies First."

NAMES

"We got complaints about people would get confused," he said. "Instead of putting 'tam2000,' we put 'tam2000.'"

Naming computers for convenience is not uncommon, Cato said. The super computers used by IBM are named Terminator, Apocalypse and Cyclops. The Institution for Scientific Computation named a group of computers after the seven deadly sins.

The X-Files is a popular science fiction/supernatural television show in its fifth season. Cato is a devoted watcher of the "X-Files."

"My life stops when X-Files comes on," he said.
