MONIQUE

The club owner gave the woman a free ticket "to see someone who wasn't Monique," the comedian said. Monique lives in Miami, but she is no stranger to the Lone Star State. Her mother lives in Humble and her brother is an Aggie.

"Texas is really weird," she said. "My brother went to Texas A&M. He said 'howdy' all the time when he visited me in Miami."

But Monique said she is getting a little tired of her hometown.

"I used to love it, but now it's too hip," she said. "There are too many beautiful thin people tripping over themselves on their way to the bathroom to puke up everything they ate."

Monique has performed in such places as "that hotbed of action," Elk City, Okla., and is appearing soon in Abilene, "where they have regular American hookers."

Monique said she is excited about performing in Bryan-College Station.

"My memories of College Station are kind of did," she said. "My brother had a roommate named Joe Bob, who I accidentally flashed one time. We haven't seen him since."

The comedian loves preying on skittish young people on dates, as well as the easily offended.

"There's just going to be a bunch of homesick people in College Station," Monique said. "I'll give a good audience, I totally abandon all hopes of material and I just abuse them."

Monique will be the second comic to take the stage at the Comedy Corner, which opened in January. Owner Rami Cerone said the 9 p.m. show is sold out and tickets for the 7 p.m. show are going quickly.

"Monique's one of the best in the country," Cerone said. "We've had a big-time positive response."

Monique, who has been compared to Lenny Bruce, has been the target of pickets in states as far as Kansas.

"People in Bryan might be jaded because of constant entertainment there," Monique said. "I played with them in Oklahoma. I could do a whole article on that. It would be statistically incorrect if it wasn't true."
