Lady Aggs look to get on a roll

By NICKI SMITH
THE BATTALION

After losing four straight Big 12 Conference games last weekend against the University of Kansas and the University of Missouri, the Texas A&M Softball Team is looking forward to getting back into the groove of things in a doubleheader against Sam Houston State University today in Huntsville.

The Lady Aggies have an overall record of 22-23 and a Big 12 record of 2-6, but the team is hoping to add two more wins to that list against the Lady Kats.

Assistant Head Coach Joy Jackson said the doubleheader will be more of a confidence builder than anything else.

"We are looking forward to a nice break with these non-conference games," Jackson said. "We are excited to go up against pitching that is not in the Big 12, which will hopefully get us back into the groove we were in before last weekend. Our players will have the opportunity to hit hard and make the big plays we have been lacking."

The Lady Aggies already have beaten the Lady Kats twice this year, but senior first baseman Mya Trulove said they will have to play the Lady Kats as if they were the best team in the nation.

"Anytime we play Sam Houston you can't take them lightly because they really want to beat us," Trulove said. "Of course this will be a nice breather and we should have two wins from them, but every time we have their best day anytime we have to expect that."

Senior outfielder Heather Hayden said the Lady Aggies need to take advantage of this opportunity by playing well in every inning.

"We always have one bad inning in our games, and if we get that mental-lapse inning we should do well," Hayden said. "The team is playing well and our catchers are doing well with throwing people out, so we are hoping to walk away with more confidence than when we go in with."

Nelson said Hudson has positioned herself for a possible NCAA berth.

"Right now she's third in the Big 12," Nelson said. "If she stays strong and healthy mentally, then she'll be ready for the Big 12 Tournament. The other ladies competing in the heptathlete will fall apart, but I know she's not going to."

Hudson has an additional source of motivation this season — her new training partner and younger sister, freshman heptathlete Desi.

"I think it's a big advantage because she's constantly coaching me and telling me things as we train," Desi said. "A lot of people have to come in and train on their own. It really helps to have someone to train with."

"We push each other a lot. It's good for her and for me."

Ceci said she has enjoyed training with her younger sister.

"It's been awesome," Ceci said. "Last year I wasn't at A&M so we didn't get to spend as much time together as we're used to. It's been nice this semester to get to see her every day. We've always been best friends."

Although the dynamic duo appreciate the time they have together, Ceci said she has to watch herself from being an overbearing sibling.

"I have to back off," Ceci said. "Even though it's something we do the same thing, I have to let her do her thing. Sometimes I forget."
