"All of the countries learn things from each other," she said. "We would like to benchmark off the Europeans in orienteering. They are raised learning how to orienteer and excel at it."

At the end of the three-day competition, the competitors exchange clothes as souvenirs. Wenzel said everyone wants to trade with the Americans.

She said she was surprised because most of the people from other countries have heard of Texas, and a few had heard of A&M.

"People always know where Texas is," she said. "I brought my favorite A&M shirt, and gave it to a girl from Britain who knew of A&M. To me, that's amazing."

Wenzel said she wants to recruit Texas A&M students for the competition. Anyone with a reserve commission in the military who is graduating in May 1995 can apply.
