

MOMS

The mothers will take a tour of the A&M campus, including visits to the MSC, Evans Library, the oceanography building, the Rec Center and Kyle Field.

The Traditions Council will teach the mothers about A&M traditions, they will attend workshops on the "empty nest syndrome" and they will have lunch in Duncan Dining Hall. The women will visit Bonfire site where they will be presented with white pots.

Wieters said the campers invite their husbands and children to a banquet in the MSC Saturday night.

"It's really one of the highlights of the whole experience," she said. "You've been with all of these women for 24 hours straight, and you finally get to meet the reason they are there with you."

Wieters said seeing students on campus during their tours and workshops is an uplifting experience for the mothers.

"It's really great when students say 'howdy' to us — we love it," she said. "It makes us feel like they're glad we're here and they are thinking, 'Gee, I wish my mom were here.'"

A monumental move

ROBERT MCKAY/THE BATTALION

Allen Steck, Don Lys and Gary Faist use bronze shims and a hydraulic jack to level the statue of the 12th Man in its new location. The statue now stands at the intersection of Joe Routt Blvd. and Wellborn Rd.

Jennifer Jo Muller, a junior poultry science major and a member of the Class of '99 Board, said class members started Wednesday evening building their shack. Muller spent Wednesday night in the shack.

"We first came out here with cardboard, scissors and tape and no wood," she said. "After some runs to get some wood, we had the best shack because we ended up surviving the night without getting wet."

The A&M chapter of Habitat built its first house last year. Members said some families in the Bryan-College Station area are living in substandard housing.

Habitat for Humanity International was founded in 1976 by Linda and Millard Fuller. Habitat's mission is to eliminate poverty housing from the world and to build relationships and a sense of community.

Through volunteer labor, management, expertise and tax-deductible donations of money and materials, Habitat builds and fixes homes.

Houses are sold at no profit to partner families, and no-interest mortgages are issued over a fixed period. Costs of homes differ relative to location, labor, land and materials. Small monthly mortgage payments, including taxes and insurance, are repaid in seven to 20 years and deposited into a revolving "Fund for Humanity" which supports the construction of houses.

Each homeowner family is required to invest hours into the construction of their home. This reduces the cost of the house, fosters pride of ownership among family members and lays the foundation for the development of positive relationships with other people, members said.

POLICY

"It's going to be beneficial primarily because we see very little crime" at Texas A&M," Wilson said.

"You can be a victim but you can also prevent (yourself) from becoming a victim."

The RHA will sponsor Bottoms-Up Clean-Up this Sunday morning at 1:30. Students will meet at the United Methodist Church on University Drive to pick up trash on the lawns of the churches in Northgate.

The Bonfire Committee appealed to RHA for support of the Bonfire Advisory Council's yellowpot selection proposal. The proposal would provide a written process of incorporating grade point and discipline rules, selection criteria, responsibility requirements, term of office and the steps for removal in the selection of yellowpots by the residence halls.
