Volleyball of to Norman

By MARGAUX HARRIS Staff writer

The Texas A&M Volleyball Team is preparing for a rematch against the University of Oklahoma Saturday in Norman. A&M won last meeting in straight sets.

After an amazing victory over Texas Longhorns on Wednesday, Coach Lori Corbelli said they are going to take this game for granted. "I think it will be a difficult match," Corbelli said. "OU plays well in their home gym."

Junior outside hitter Stacy Sykes coming off an excellent game against the Longhorns, echoed Corbelli's thoughts, saying she will have her hands full with the Sooners.

"OU is a strong, veteran team on the rise," Sykes said. "They are an outside dominating team. I need to maintain the game and not let them dominate it."

The Aggies go into this game with a record of 19-6, 11-4. A victory in Norman could improve the chances for an NCAA home bid.

"They are a really balanced team," senior outside hitter Kristina Smedsrud said. "All five of the hitters are good. We will have to play hard and use defense in order to beat them."

Oklahoma poses a big threat to the Aggies in dominating hitter Patrice Arrington and Melissa Peterson. Arrington leads her team in kills with 460, and Peterson is second with 408. They are a strong attack team and very aggressive. The key to winning on Saturday will be to contain Oklahoma's outside hitters and to play tough defense.

"They are a team sensitive to momentum," Corbelli said. "When they have it, they are hard to stop when they don't, their play drops significantly. We will try to keep the momentum on our side as much as possible."

The Sooners are coming off a straight-set victory over Kansas and they hope to begin a win streak over the Aggies.

"I think it will be a good game," Smedsrud said. "They are playing really well and are beating top teams at home. Our challenge will be to try to stop them."
