

Unlike class, you might want to show up for this.

Learn to get the job you actually want at JobDirect's JobDrive.™

One of life's unfortunate realities is that after college you have to get a job. Some argue you might even want a career. And to make it easier, Visa's sponsoring JobDirect's JobDrive. The JobDrive's purpose is to help students entering the job market succeed in getting the jobs they want.

JobDirect's JobDrive will roll into town via a technology bus that has fifteen laptop computers equipped with sophisticated Internet technology to connect candidates with job opportunities. Also at the bus, you'll learn the skills to help you put together a resume that stands out, interviewing skills that will get you the job, and you'll even get some tips that will help you use credit responsibly. So stop by the JobDrive. After all, it's been said 80% of success is just showing up.
