Clinton team visits Congress to gain support for possible attack on Iraq

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the Clinton administration pressed Congress to support a possible attack on Iraq, the U.S. commander in the Persian Gulf said Wednesday he will be ready for an airstrike "within a week or so."

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein should be "nervous," Marine Corps Gen. Anthony Zinni, the overall commander of U.S. forces in the oil-rich Gulf region, told reporters there.

In Washington, lawmakers were also nervous — about whether the planned U.S. airstrikes, if launched, will succeed in pushing Iraq to comply with international arms inspectors.

President Clinton sent his senior foreign policy team to Capitol Hill Wednesday to seek a congressional show of support in a nonbinding resolution backing the use of force against Iraq.

"We all hope we can avoid the use of force," Clinton said. "But let's face it, in the end that is up to Saddam Hussein."

The Iraqi leader, he said, "must let the weapons inspectors back with full and free access to all suspect sites."

The State Department dismissed an Iraqi proposal to open eight presidential complexes for what Foreign Minister Mohammed Saeed al-Sahhaf said could be an inch-by-inch search.

"We have yet to hear about a concrete Iraqi offer to reverse course and allow the U.N. inspectors the access to do their jobs," spokesperson James P. Rubin said. "This latest iteration appears to fall short again of this very simple standard."

The congressional resolution, which seemed sure of quick passage when Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott first raised it two weeks ago, now is bogged down over concerns about precisely what kind of airstrikes the administration is planning.

Lawmakers also question whether the strikes will succeed in forcing Iraq to allow unfettered U.N. inspections of its suspected chemical and biological arms sites.

Lott said Wednesday he and other lawmakers want the administration to request congressional action. "I don't know if we can do it in one day," he said, but "there's no need to rush to

Reno asks for special prosecutor for Babbitt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Janet Reno asked Wednesday for an independent prosecutor to investigate whether Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt misled Congress in connection with an Indian casino controversy.

Reno

If a special court complies with Reno's request, it would be the first such prosecutor to be named in connection with the wide-ranging inquiries in Congress over campaign fund raising and political influence during the 1996 election.

Reno's request calls for the investigation to be limited to the relatively narrow issues of Babbitt's sworn testimony to a Senate committee last October and any possible violations of federal law in the decision on the casino.

Justice Department aides had said an outside counsel was needed to resolve the issue in Babbitt's case. In 1995, Reno asked for an independent prosecutor to investigate whether Babbitt misled Congress in connection with an Indian casino controversy. There was talk that Babbitt's sworn testimony to a Senate committee last October and any possible violations of federal law in the decision on the casino.
