Gopalakrishnan said there are many startling statistics about sexual assault people do not want to listen or admit to.

"Somewhere in America ... a woman is being raped every two minutes," she said. "One out of four college women reported experiencing rape or attempted rape in their lifetime. One of every four rapes take place in a public area or in a parking garage."

Ngo said the events for tonight include a panel discussion from 7 to 8 p.m. in Rudder 407, an open microphone for testimonials and a march around campus.

Legendary Gandhi actor takes on role of infamous barber Sweeney

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sweeney Todd, the notorious barber remembered for his easy way with a razor, turns up on cable TV this Sunday in the person of Oscar winner Ben Kingsley.

As evil literary figures go, Sweeney Todd ranks right up there with Jack the Ripper. Jack was a real-life killer, though his identity remains uncertain, while Todd was a legend that supposedly originated in Central Europe. He has been depicted in plays and a Broadway musical.

The Ballad of Sweeney Todd appears Sunday on Showtime. The setting is London at the turn of the century. Todd (Kingsley) is a popular barber whose rich clients have a habit of disappearing. They turn up in the delectable pies baked by Todd's mistress, Mrs. Lovett (Joanna Lumley).

The pies are a popular item among London's gourmets until an American insurance sleuth (Campbell Scott) starts looking into one of the disappearances. John Schlesinger's Cowboy, Marathon Man director Kingsley seems an unlikely choice for the infamous Todd. After all, he did win the Academy Award as a 20th Century screen hero.

He has proved himself a versatile actor, playing no stranger to villainy. On stage, he was an American gangster in Bugsy and a tycoon in Sneakers.
