Jones announces decision to appeal laws

DALLAS (AP) — Her voice breaking as she pronounced the word "appeal," Paula Jones said Thursday she will ask an appeals court to reinstate her lawsuit and force President Clinton to stand trial for sexual harassment. "In the end, I have not come this far to see the law let men who have done such things dodge their responsibility," a crying Jones said at a news conference with her lawyers. "I believe what Mr. Clinton did to me was wrong, and the law protects women who are subjected to that kind of abuse of power." Clinton, on a state visit in Chile, said he felt good about a federal judge's April 1 dismissal of the Jones suit and he declined to comment on the latest turn. "It's a very unusual political environment, but I'm just not going to let the politics get in my way," he said. Jones' widely anticipated appeal set the stage for a lengthy extension of the legal battle over her allegation of a Clinton advance in a Little Rock hotel room in 1991 while he was governor of Arkansas. Attorneys not commenting on the case say she faces a long fight to overturn the dismissal. Thursday's news conference in Dallas, where Jones is based, marked her first comment on the case since U.S. District Court Judge Susan Walker ruled on April 1 that the suit did not merit a trial.

Cambodian tyrant Pol Pot dies at age 73

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Cambodian revolutionary Pol Pot had all the hallmarks of a tyrant: paranoia, cunning, ruthlessness. King Norodom Sihanouk, at various times Pol Pot's ally or adversary, compared him to Stalin — but also said he had a certain charisma that made him "very charming." His Khmer Rouge regime, however, was one of the most brutal the 20th century has witnessed. As many as 2 million Cambodians died, some in grisly city torture centers, others in the countryside with a blow to the back of the head with a hoe. Many died of starvation, overwork and illness during Khmer Rouge attempts to force a Maoist-style collectivization of agriculture. The man known to his comrades as Brother Number One died Wednesday, two days short of the 23rd anniversary of the day his army captured Phnom Penh and began a reign of terror. The last time Pol Pot was seen alive by outsiders — in several interviews last year — he was an enfeebled old man who almost looked kindly. "Our movement made mistakes," he told American journalist Nate Thayer, the first to interview him in 18 years. "I came to carry out the struggle, not to kill people. Even now, and you can look at me: Am I a savage person? My conscience is clear." The best estimates are that one in five Cambodians of a population of 7.9 million died when the Khmer Rouge were in power from 1975-79.

Pol Pot and the Khmer Rouge

1949-52 Saloth Sar, later known as Pol Pot, studies in Paris, becomes absorbed with communist ideology.

1953 Cambodia receives independence from France. Pol Pot works on setting up communist party.

1971 Right-wing coup topples Sihanouk. General Lon Nol, aided by the US, is put into power.

1975 Khmer Rouge march into Phnom Penh on April 17. Cambodia is sealed off from the world, capital's population is forced into countryside, doomed experiment in agrarian communism begins. Purges begin among leadership and over the next four years as many as two million people die of starvation, overwork and execution.

1978 Vietnam invades in December to stop Khmer Rouge border attacks. Phnom Penh falls two weeks later. Puppet regime of Khmer Rouge defectors, including current Cambodian strongman Hun Sen, takes over. Khmer Rouge retreat to Thai border, join forces with other resistance groups, guerrilla war begins.

1991 All Cambodian factions, including Khmer Rouge, sign peace agreement providing for U.N. peacekeeping force and democratic elections.

1993 Khmer Rouge boycotts U.N.-run election. Prince Norodom Ranariddh and Hun Sen share power in coalition government.

1996 Aug: Government announces split in Khmer Rouge. Pol Pot's brother-in-law, Ieng Sary, leads defections eventually totaling 10,000 guerrillas.

1997 Tensions between parties in coalition government worsen, partly over waning support from Khmer Rouge defectors for elections in 1998.

Pol Pot orders murder of Minister Son Sen, who is taken prisoner by General Ieng Sary as the butcher. Pol Pot sentenced to life in prison in Khmer Rouge show trial in Phnom Penh. Ieng Sary and Pol Pot are given life terms in prison. Ieng Sary and Pol Pot are given life terms in prison. Ieng Sary and Pol Pot are given life terms in prison.

Here for the Summer?

CPSC 689-100 APPLIED NETWORKS AND DISTRIBUTED PROCESSING

Get smart about the fundamentals of computer networking!

689 Offered 1st Summer Session (5-1/2 week course) to all graduate students

There are NO prerequisites except graduate student standing and proficiency in C!

As an enhanced version of CPSC 463 - Networks and Distributed Processing, CPSC 689 covers networking fundamentals including network design and protocol analysis in the context of computer communications. Focus is on applying principles of layered architectures to analyzing real networks.

Instructor: Dr. Udo Pooch Book: Computer Networks, 3rd Edition, by Tanenbaum
Time/Days: M-F 2:00-3:35 Room: 131 HRBB

CPSC 689-200 OBJECT ORIENTED PROGRAMMING AND APPLICATIONS

689 Offered 2nd Summer Session (5-1/2 week course)

If you are a graduate student proficient in C, you can register!

As an enhanced version of the 489 with the same course title, this CPSC 689 course covers a survey of the principles of object-oriented languages and systems, and their relationship to abstract data types and other paradigms. You will experience applications to scientific and engineering problems using C++, visual programming tools and an internet application overview.

Instructor: Dr. Mac Lively Book: Teach Yourself Borland® C++ Builder in 14 days
Time/Days: M-F 2:00-3:35 by Reisdorph and Henderson
