Repeat Three-peat Bulls get third-consecutive championships Utah loses home elimination game 87

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Michael Jordan, practically all by himself, made the Chicago Bulls champions for one more and perhaps one last time.
 Jordan scored 45 points and made the key play of the game like only he could, stealing the ball from Karl Malone and hitting a jumper with 5.2 seconds left to give Chicago an 87-86 victory and a 4-2 series victory over the Utah Jazz.

It was an incredible moment for the greatest player in the game, as dramatic as anything he has done in a title-clinching game during his magnificent career.
 With the Jazz ahead 86-85 and the clock ticking inside of 15 seconds, Jordan snuck up behind Malone and poked the ball away. The sound of 20,000 people gasping filled the Delta Center as Jazz fans collectively feared what was about to happen.
 And Jordan did exactly what they feared, dribbling to the foul line, pulling up to lose defender Bryon Russell and draining a jumper.

The Jazz still had one more chance, but John Stockton missed a 3-point attempt just before the buzzer.
 Jordan ran to midcourt and held up six fingers to signify six championships — one for every full season he has played this decade.
 What made this one even more special was the way Jordan had to work in the clinching game.

With Scottie Pippen severely hobbled by a sore back, Jordan pumped up 35 field goal attempts and 15 free throws.

He made 15 shots, including three 3-pointers, and had his highest scoring game in the finals since scoring 55 against Phoenix in 1993. He was rewarded with his sixth finals MVP trophy and avoided playing his first Game 7 in the finals.

The Bulls have never lost a Game 6, clinching the title four previous times — beating Portland in 1992, Phoenix in 1993, Seattle in 1996 and Utah in 1997 — without having to face a seventh game.
 Now, the basketball world awaits the answer to the question of the season: Will this be the final championship for the Bulls — or even Jordan's final game?

If it was, Jordan left everyone with something special to remember him by.
 In the best-played and perhaps hardest-fought game of the series, it looked like Malone and the Jazz were going to force a seventh game. They made Jordan earn many of his points from the game as he got a spirited performance from Karl Malone (31 points) and most of the fourth quarter.

Russell gave the Jazz a lead on two foul shots from left, and Utah stayed alive with 59 seconds left, making 83-all.

Stockton hit a 3-pointer with 42 seconds left, and made it 86-85 by making two shots with 37 seconds left. That set up the sequence Jordan made the play of the leaving his man and around the baseline to get behind Malone.

Pippen, a leading contender for the finals MVP until he had Game 5, scored only eight points with four assists, three rebounds and two steals in 26 minutes played in obvious pain.
 Toni Kukoc had 15 points and eight rebounds and Dennis Rodman had seven and eight rebounds and Harper scored eight.

Those contributions were being just enough to help the Bulls win perhaps their last title. Jordan, Pippen, Rodman and coach Phil Jackson may played their last game together.
 Jordan will be a free agent this summer and has spoken about retiring. Jackson has insisted he does not expect to be hired by Pippen, Rodman and Shaquille O'Neal will be free agents.

from staff and wire reports

Academic team has A&M vaulter

Richard McDonald was named to the 1997-98 GTE Academic All-America Men's At-Large Third Team on Tuesday. The sophomore general studies major from New Braunfels has compiled a perfect grade point ratio of 4.0.

McDonald is a vaulter on coach Ted Nelson's Texas A&M Track and Field Team. His vault of 16-4.75 meters at the Penn Relays on April 25 was the highest mark on the team this past season. During the indoor season, McDonald cleared a career-best 18-0.5 for a runner-up finish at the Big 12 Meet, and advanced to the NCAA Indoor Championships.
 "I am extremely proud of Richard," Aggie coach Ted Nelson said. "He is an extremely hard-worker both in the classroom and on the track. He always stays on top of his

Aggie golf team ranked 44th

The Texas A&M Men's Golf Team is ranked No. 44 in the latest MasterCard Collegiate Golf Rankings.

A&M is ranked No. 5 in its district behind the University of Houston, Texas Christian University, the University of Arkansas and Southern Methodist University.
 In the men's individual rankings, A&M golfers Miguel del Angel and Ryan Palmer are ranked No. 64 and No. 77, respectively.

Astros rally 10th-inning

CINCINNATI (AP) — Houston Astros scored runs off Jeff Shaw to tie the ninth and three more off the 10th inning Sunday evening for a 6-3 victory over Cincinnati Reds.

Bill Spiers started the rally with a leadoff double in the ninth and hit a two-run home off Shaw (1-4) in the 10th fourth hit of the game.

Shaw gave up one home run after another. He had ERA when he took the mound best among NL closers — with five runs in two innings.
 His failure undercut a rally by the Reds, who went eighth with two outs in the bottom eighth when Eduardo Perez tiedbreaking, bases-loaded series.
 Billy Wagner (1-2) pitched out of a threat in the bottom ninth and got the final out for the win.
