Janzen wins U.S. Open

Stewart unable to recover on 18th after blowing a three-day lead, A&M's Ryan Palmer misses

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lee Janzen won the 1993 U.S. Open by holding off Payne Stewart down the stretch. On Sunday, he turned back Stewart once again in the Open, this time by overcoming a seven-stroke deficit.

Showing startling confidence on a day when no one was making birdies at The Olympic Club, Janzen played the final 15 holes four under par for a 68 to finish at even-par 280, one stroke ahead of Stewart.

Stewart came to the 18th hole needing a birdie to force an 18-hole playoff. But his approach was above the hole and he had a very difficult, very fast downhill, curling putt.

When the ball broke just left of the hole Janzen, who was watching on TV, let out a big sigh and buried his head in a towel.

Stewart tapped in and walked dejectedly off the green.

Janzen had closed out his round 20 minutes earlier when he tapped in a 2-foot par putt while his father Larry clapped in appreciation for the Father's Day gift.

"That might not have looked like a long putt but it couldn't have been longer," Janzen said about his final stroke.

drive into a divot and the second when he couldn't get up and down from the thick greenside rough.

Janzen put the squeeze on coming down the stretch, hitting iron shots to 8 feet on No. 11 and 4 feet on No. 13 to take the lead.

"That's the one where I started thinking I was in the hunt," Janzen said about the birdie on No. 11.

And, as at Baltusrol when he won the Open, Janzen was a bulldog down the stretch, refusing to make mistakes.

The key may have come on No. 17, where Janzen was five over par in the first three rounds. After Stewart pulled back into a tie with a curling 15-foot on No. 14, Janzen play two perfect shots to the green on the 468-yard hole and made a good two-putt par from 35 feet, motioning playfully for the first putt to turn toward the hole.

"I wanted that hole today," Janzen said. "I didn't want to say that was the hole that undid me."

Stewart lost the lead for good when he went from the rough to the rough to the bunker and made a bogey on No. 16.

Meanwhile, no one else among those within striking distance was able to mount a charge on the firm, fast and frightening Lake Course at Olympic.

Jeff Maggert, Bob Tway and Nick Price — all veterans of major championship pressure — had a chance but failed to make a move.

Perhaps the most heartbreaking of the also-rans was Tom Lehman, who started the day four strokes behind Stewart and was playing in the final group on the final day at the U.S. Open for the fourth consecutive year.

But he merely added a fifth-place finish to the third, second and third he has had the three previous years.

Similarly, none of the young guns expected to contend in this Open was a factor. David Duval closed with a 69 and was at 287, along with Lee Westwood, the young Englishman.

Justin Leonard, Ernie Els, Tiger

Woods and Jim Furyk were a factor.

Other thrills came from places.

Casey Martin rode up the fairway in his cart to warm from the gallery and closed 72 to be at 291. Jack Nicklaus, playing the Open for the 42nd time, was at 295, one stroke behind Els, the defending champion.

Ryan Palmer at the U.S. Open

Texas A&M's Ryan Palmer made the cut at the U.S. Open two-day total of 155.

Palmer carded a 12-over 82 first round. He made double bogey the fifth and 12th holes and another nine bogeys with on birdie. The back-nine proved to Palmer, who tallied eight over par with a bogey on the par-5 first hole and a double bogey on the par-3 second hole, including a 2 on the par-3 hole. He was 1-over on the back and a solid two-over on the back for a 3-over total for his last two Amateur Matt Kuchar turned 20 on Sunday, shot 82 was at 289, one stroke behind Woods, who closed with a 69 included a three-putt from the rough on the final hole.

John Daly shot a 78, including a quadruple bogey when he missed a putt after missing a one-putt hole, and a double bogey on the 11th hole. The duel between Stewart and Lehman never developed when Stewart curled in a 6-foot par-saving putt on No. 6 like he was going to continue a gritty golf that wins Opens.

When his putt fell into the hole with its last turn on No. 6 who worked his chewing gum into a baker kneading dough, ball and stared at hole as it rolled in. "How dare you even think of not letting that in."

But as much as Stewart missed back strokes — he needed instead of his 74 to win — Janzen who mounted a three Open-styled charge to win.

The victory by Janzen meant that the last 15 major championships have been won by former people going back to 1900. Janzen is a tough customer on the stretch when it matters the

Marion Jones stakes her claim to USA Track and Field Championships 100-, 200-meter

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Weariness couldn't prevent Marion Jones from becoming the first athlete in 50 years to win the women's 100 and 200 meters and long jump at the USA Track and Field Championships.

The 22-year-old Jones, who has become the world's most celebrated female athlete in the sport in just one year, completed the rare sweep Sunday by winning the 200 in 22.24 seconds while running into a headwind.

The time was the second-fastest of the year and only Jones has run faster.

"I was exhausted," Jones said, after her tiring weekend that included three races in the 100 and two in the 200 in hot and humid conditions. Temperatures were consistently in the mid-to-high 90s — including 98 degrees Sunday — the heat index was over 100 and the temperature on the field Sunday was 114 degrees.

"I'm happy and relieved to come out in this heat and win all three events. I didn't feel any pressure," she said. "But it's the most difficult thing I've done. The 100 and long jump took a lot out of me."

Jones began her assault on the rare triple Saturday by winning the 100 and long jump.

Her time in the 100 was 10.72, again only she has run run faster this year.

Her winning effort in the long jump was a wind-aided 23 feet, 8 inches and only she has jumped farther in 1998.

In the 200, she bolted quickly out of the blocks, took the lead early and kept increasing the margin until 15 meters remained, when she eased up.

The mercurial Jones burst onto the world scene only a year ago at these championships at Indianapolis by winning the 100 in 10.97 and the long jump at 22.9, beating the great Jackie Joyner-Kersey.

That was a forerunner to her performance at the World Championships at Athens, Greece, where she was the only woman to win two gold medals — in the 100 and 400 relay. She was then voted the outstanding women's track and field athlete of 1997.

Stella Walsh was the only athlete to sweep the women's 100, 200 and long jump at the national championships, accomplishing it four times, the first in 1930, the last in 1948.

Carl Lewis won all three men's events in the USA Championships at Indianapolis in 1983.

The imperturbable Jones made her first strong track and field impression as a 16-year-old high school junior, when she qualified for the 1992 Olympic relay team as an alternate by placing fifth in the 100 and fourth in the 200 at the trials in New Orleans.

She passed taking a spot on the team, feeling she was too young and inexperienced.

Then, she went to North Carolina and led the U.S. Heels to the NCAA basketball title as a freshman. She was a starting point guard on three All-around Coast Conference championship teams.

Watching the 1996 Olympics on television while recuperating from a broken foot, Jones decided to return to track and field.

The decision is paying off athletically and financially. As she keeps winning, her appearance fee is going up, and she is getting far more money from competing in track and field than had she played professional basketball.

Jones' remarkable feat overshadowed four previous leading performances at the championships Sunday. The most startling was Bryan Bronson's 4:57.27 clocking in the 400 hurdles. Bronson's time was the third fastest ever and the fastest on American soil behind only Kevin Young's world record 46.78 at the 1992 Olympics and Edwin Moses' 47.02 at Kalamazoo, Germany, in 1983.

"If the world record doesn't come this year, I've had a great year," Bronson said, 25, the 1997 world championship bronze medalist. "I'm getting technically and my speed is the best it's ever been."

"I knew I was ready, but I didn't think I would do that fast. As I was coming down the stretch, I wasn't watching the clock. I saw 46 and I hammered it."

Reggie Torian, the 1997 NCAA 110 hurdles champion from Wisconsin, ran the fastest race of his career by winning in a world-leading 13.03. He edged Mark Clark, the runner-up in 13.06, the second fastest time this season overall in the women's 400 hurdles, clocking a world-leading 53.61.

Kim Batten won her fifth straight title and the most overall in the women's 400 hurdles, clocking a world-leading 53.61.

"I wanted to stay relaxed early and come out fast," Batten said, after misstepping late. "I didn't do as well technically later as I wanted."

NCAA Division II champion Jerome Young of Augustinus' won the men's 400 in 44.09, the fastest in his career and the fastest of 1998.

The Clark family dominated the women's 800. Jearl Miles-Clark won in 1:58.78, the fastest in American this year, her sister-in-law Joetta Clark finished second at 1:59.01 and Joetta's younger sister, finished fourth at 2:00.23.

In high school, Jones changed her name from Jones-Kersey to Jones when she joined the U.S. national team in 1997.

Labels like "people's choice" and "the people's champion" are all around her, and she has become a household name in America.

She is a 1996 Olympic medalist in the 100 and 200 meters and long jump. She was also a 1997 World Championships medalist in the 100 and 200 meters and long jump.

Jones is a 1997 NCAA basketball champion. She was a starting point guard on three All-around Coast Conference championship teams.
