Rain relief

Scattered showers provide small relief to extreme heat, drought conditions

HOUSTON (AP)—Some areas of parched Southeast Texas looked for a second straight day of rain yesterday but the relief from the drought appeared to be limited to counties closest to the Gulf of Mexico.

As much as 8.3 inches of rain fell in the 24 hours through Monday morning in Matagorda County, 6 inches in the Clute area of Brazoria County and up to 5 inches in eastern Chambers County.

"Everything was mainly along the coast," National Weather Service forecaster Dan Darbe said.

An area of disturbed weather, which had caused flooding in Lake Charles, La., brought the rain to Southeast Texas as it drifted over the Texas coast.

Beaumont got more than 2 1/2 inches of rain, Port Arthur had 3 inches.

By Monday the tropical moisture from the Gulf had shifted a bit to the west and heightened prospects of localized heavy rain, mainly west of Galveston Bay and south of Interstate 10.

Forecasters said that meant the bulk of the showers could be expected between Houston and Galveston with heaviest rains across Matagorda and Jackson counties.

In Houston, Sunday's rain flooded U.S. 59 just north of I-610, snarling traffic for hours and knocking out power to 67,000 homes. Lighting & Power Co. cut power to the south Houston, Freeport and Galveston areas.

But areas to the north and east of Houston were dry with temperatures in the 90s. Conroe had no rain in the 24 hours through Monday morning. Huntsville had only 0.09 inches.

College Station, for example, got only a trace of rain for the day through Monday morning, but most 7 inches lower than the year. Houston remains 1.5 inches behind average rainfall for the year, but the most recent rain pushed Galveston's annual total 1/2 inches above normal.

Rain prospects were dim as the current weather system moved on.

"This is the last shot we have for the near future," Darbe said. "In midweek, we'll be back to warm muggies."

Caldwell teens face arson charges

CALDWELL (AP)—Things weren't so peaceful in Harlingen over the weekend.

Two 18-year-olds from Caldwell, southeast of Bryan-College Station, were charged with three arson-related felonies after a day-long fire spree Saturday night in a small community just south of Caldwell.

Burleson County officials and the state's fire marshal's office accused Shannon D. Blount and Thomas L. Graham of using molotov cocktails to set fire to a home, a barn and tractor and a car. All of the property was destroyed.

Texas Department of Insurance spokesperson Mark Hanna said also tried to set fire to a field. The state fire marshal's office is part of the insurance department.

Blount and Graham were being held in the Burleson County jail where they were set at $200,000 each.

The two face up to 99 years in jail and a $10,000 fine on each of the charges of burglary with intent to commit arson.

No one was injured in the fires, but Hanna said the boys shot a dog belonging to the owner of the burned-down home.
