AGGIE SPORTS BRIEF

from staff and wire

Aggie signees invited to France

Kendra Reimer and Burkhardt, two Texas Women's Track and Field signees, will participate in the World Junior Track and Field Championships July 28-August 2 at Anney, France. Both girls won gold in the United States Championships.

Reimer, from the Braunfels Track Club, won the heptathalon title with a record total of 5,411 points, which broke the 16-year mark of 5,237 points set by Sharon Hatfield in 1982.

Burkhardt, from Antonio's East Central School, made a height of 11 1/2 inches, which placed her into a jump-off with Nakeitra Jones where Burkhardt would win the medal. Burkhardt also will play volleyball.

The United States, with a team of NBA players, won the World Championships in Toronto in 1994.

USA team holds tryouts

World championship team invites collegians, CBA veterans to replace NBA roster players

CHICAGO (AP) — With NBA players ordered to stay home, former Michigan star Jimmy King and Duke standout Trajan Langdon are among those who will be competing for a spot on the U.S. world championship team.

USA Basketball released a list yesterday of the 30 players invited to training camp, which is being held this week at the Moody Bible Institute. The roster will be pared to a 12-man team next week, with the 1998 FIBA World Championships July 21-Aug. 9 in Athens, Greece.

"We feel confident that out of this group we can and will field a very competitive team, a team that will go out and try to win the world championship," coach Rudy Tomjanovich said.

Those invited include four current college players — Langdon; Richard Hamilton of Connecticut; Mateen Cleaves of Michigan State and Evan Eschmeyer of Northwestern — and two others, Earl Boykins of Eastern Michigan and Purdue's Brad Miller, who just completed their eligibility.

There also are 12 CBA players, nine who played overseas and three who played both overseas and in the CBA.

USA Basketball had selected 12 NBA players to represent the United States in the world championships. But with an NBA lock-out looming July 1, the NBA players threatened to boycott the world championships.

USA Basketball moved first, announcing June 16 it was dropping the NBA stars and replacing them with current college players, CBA players and Americans playing overseas.

But some players turned down the invitations, saying they did not want to interfere with the lockout. Dominique Wilkins said he considered it, but decided against trying out because he did not want to betray the NBA players.

The 12 NBA players on the U.S. team were: Tim Duncan (San Antonio), Tim Hardaway (Miami), Vin Baker and Gary Payton (Seattle), Terrell Brandon (Milwaukee), Kevin Garnett and Tom Gugliotta (Minnesota), Grant Hill (Detroit), Allan Houston (New York), Christian Laettner (Atlanta), Glen Rice (Charlotte) and Chris Webber (Sacramento).

The United States, with a team of NBA players, won the World Championships in Toronto in 1994.
