Police seek answers in hanging death of teen

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Abilene police are investigating the death of a 15-year-old girl who apparently hanged herself in the Taylor County Juvenile Detention Center Monday. The teen was taken to Abilene Regional Medical Center and pronounced dead at 1:27 p.m. Justice of the Peace Rex Andrew ordered an autopsy by the Tarrant County medical examiner's office. Abilene police Sgt. Garland Wade said his department is investigating.

Bob Wakefield, the center's chief juvenile officer, said the girl had visited her mother and brother in her cell at 11:35 a.m. "At five minutes to 12, they brought her lunch and she hung herself," he told the Abilene Reporter-News. She was found in a bed sheet to the mesh covering the window. The girl had been taken to the juvenile center the night after she was involved in an aggravated assault and hospitalized another teen, authorities said.

LEWINSKY

Six additional Secret Service uniformed officers have been subpoenaed to testify this week, Mike Leibig, head of an association of Secret Service officers, said Monday night.

Leibig said 11 Secret Service personnel have given grand jury testimony in the Lewinsky probe.

The Lewinsky-prosecutor talks came on a day that Starr won a majority victory from a panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

In a 2-1 decision, the panel rejected Clinton's claim of attorney-client confidentiality and ordered presidential adviser Bruce Lindsey to answer questions before a grand jury.

The panel majority said none of Lindsey's conversations as a White House adviser were protected from grand jury testimony. But the judges said Lindsey — as a deputy counsel — dispensed legal advice in "at least one" conversation, thus permitting a ruling on whether government lawyers could withhold information in a criminal investigation.

The answer was no, the majority said.

"With respect to investigations of federal criminal offenses, and especially offenses committed by those in government, government attorneys stand in a far different position from members of the private bar," U.S. Circuit Judges Judith Rogers and A. Raymond Randolph said.

Deputy Whitewater prosecutor Robert Bittman and Starr's ethics counselor, Sam Dash, participated in the questioning, along with a female colleague, the sources said.

"It wasn't a cross-examination; they weren't trying to browbeat her; they were just trying to get some answers," said one source. Present for Ms. Lewinsky were her lawyers, Stein and Cacharis.

It was not clear how Monday's talks would affect Clinton's legal strategy. A senior Clinton adviser, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the president was prepared to fight the subpoena he received from Starr for grand jury testimony — and thus spark a constitutional battle — if the testimony was not delivered on his own terms.

WATER

Bryan, College Station and Texas A&M University all get water from a set of water wells north and west of Bryan.

Tim Ottinger, spokesman for St. Joseph Regional Health Center, said patients probably didn't notice the water problem and no services had to be diverted elsewhere.

"We did delay surgeries this morning to make sure we had an adequate supply of water for sterilization in the operating room," he said. "We were back on track after that, though."

GREENPEACE

Niaz Dorry, a Greenpeace fisheries and oceans campaigner from Gloucester, Mass., said Kemp told the group that a forum could be held on campus in the future if the proper procedures are followed.

The forum was to include people interested in all phases of fisheries in the Gulf of Mexico and around the world, Dorry said.

Greenpeace is in the midst of a nationwide campaign to tell people about its allegations that huge numbers of fish are needlessly killed and discarded because of practices on large commercial fishing vessels.

Purple Heart awarded to border agent who risked their lives in a July 7 shooting

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Three weeks after they answered a call for help from fellow law enforcement officers and were fatally ambushed by a gunman, two U.S. Border Patrol agents are being honored with citations from the Military Order of the Purple Heart.

A sheriff's deputy wounded in the same incident is being similarly honored. Susan Lynn Rodriguez' posthumous award was presented to her husband, Gilbert Rodriguez, during a ceremony Monday at the Harlingen Border Patrol station. Their 2-year-old daughter also attended.

"I'm very proud of my wife," Rodriguez said. "I'd like to thank the Border Patrol and all the other law enforcement agencies that have given us constant support."

Rodriguez, 28, became the first woman Border Patrol agent killed in the line of duty when she was shot in the July 7 incident.

"I'm still sad about Susan," Herman Wise, chapter commander of the region's Military Order of the Purple Heart, said. "I feel sad and honored because she was the first who lost her life doing her job in this great country of ours."

The family of Border Patrol agent Ricardo Salinas also will receive a citation, Wise said.

Cameron County sheriff's deputy Raul Rodriguez also will receive a citation. He who was wounded in the gunfight and is now recuperating at home.

Rodriguez and Salinas, 24, were killed while assisting the Cameron County Sheriff's Department in pursuit of 25-year-old Ernest Moore, who had killed two Rio Hondo women earlier in the day. Law officers had converged at the home of Moore's parents when they were ambushed by Moore, who later died of wounds he received in the gunbattle.

"We all miss these agents and will not ever forget them and their dedication to duty, even in the face of imminent danger," Harlingen's Border Patrol Agent in Charge

John Brinning said during the ceremony for Rodriguez.

The Purple Heart is one of the highest military honors and is awarded to people who are wounded in battle or in the line of duty. The Purple Heart is awarded to people who are wounded in battle or in the line of duty.

"Any police officers who are wounded in the line of duty while serving their community may be awarded a Purple Heart," Lisa Bresser with the Purple Heart National Office said. "We know you're a hero."

Wise said he did not know when ceremonies for Salinas and Raul Rodriguez would be held. He said it was the Texas state commander of the Military Order of the Purple Heart who turned Tuesday afternoon.
