Desberardos' Texas tour rides into College Station tonight with new CD, country-pop blend of rhythm

Fitzwilly's is known for hosting new country and blues acts, and this Friday night is no exception. Chris Berardo and the Desberardos will grace Fitzwilly's stage with its country-pop stylings from its recent CD.

But this is not an ordinary show for the band. Chris Berardo, the band's front man said only two members are making the trek from Connecticut to Texas to perform the all-acoustic set; himself and one of the band's guitarists, Marc Berardo.

"This is our first trip to Texas to actually play on tour," Berardo said. "We previously came down to check out the scene, but we didn't have the chance to play anywhere."

Berardo said he hopes to bring the whole band down next time they play in College Station. The band includes Berardo on vocals, percussion and harmonica, Marc Berardo on vocals and acoustic guitars, Scott Berardo on drums, Tom Marotta on bass and vocals, Dick Neil on acoustic and electric guitars and C.J. Masters on pedal steel and electric guitar.

"When I was growing up I listened to The Eagles and other bands like them on the radio, and that's where I found my inspiration," Berardo said. "I wanted to play music like that, and now I'm getting the chance."

Earlier this year, the band put out its first CD, American Dust, which is available on the Internet through Oxford Road Records in Boulder, Colo.

Living in the northern city environment and having southern influences created the unique country-pop sound of the band's first CD. However, Berardo said the band has found only a small audience while living in Stamford, Conn., a suburb right outside

New York City, and is moving to Austin after the scene for themselves. Before the show Berardo and Marc Berardo will be on KEOS 89.1 FM between 5 p.m. They will also have a CD set and sign autographs. The members of the band will be at the station at 5:30 p.m.

Chris Berardo and the Desberardos' first full-length album, American Dust, contains melodic pop tunes with a country influence. The songs contain urban-cowboy themes that sound similar to early Eagles and John Mellencamp.

The album is mostly upbeat with not much change in style and composition.

The lyrics contain themes such as love and relationships, as in 'One Step Closer to Goodbye', and aging and loneliness, as in 'Is There Anybody Out There?' and 'Old Man's Eyes.'

The album keeps a melodic, casual pace throughout without any surprises. (C+)

BROWN

"She showed the legend of America that you can start from nothing and go somewhere."

Daniel Hronek, who plays Prince DeLong in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," said his first thoughts about her stemmed from the movie Titanic.

"The play allows you to see more about her besides 'I am rich, and I am vulgar,'" he said. "You can see the whole character from her being rich to being poor."

Wilson said the 1960's movie version does not do justice to the script in the way the musical does.

"The movie starred Debbie Reynolds, who I felt was just too old for the part," he said. "Molly Brown" needs a character who is alive and exciting.

"We were able to capture that with the actress we have now (Joanna Bush).

"The movie also leaves out a lot of the original songs."

After five weeks of rehearsal, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" is set to open today.

It will run for three weekends. It will be playing at the 'Magination Station theater located in Manor East Mall.

Tickets are $6.00 for evening shows and $4.00 for matinees.

SHINER

"In 1997, the brewery had 9,000 visitors, and this year, we are expecting to have an all-new record of 10,000 visitors," Duke said. "The tour consists of about a 35-minute walking tour of the facilities and the opportunity to sample the beer at the end of the tour."

"The tour begins with an eight-minute video on the brewery's history and continues on to the brewhouse and lab, the new tank farm and storage facility and the final stop is the bottling shop."

Tours of the brewery are available Monday through Friday 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. or by special arrangement for groups of 20 or more.

The brewery is closed on weekends and on major holidays.

Tom Moreau, a senior accounting and finance major, said he would love to go visit the Spoetzl Brewery and see what it is all about.

"I have visited a winery before," Moreau said, "but I have never had the opportunity to visit a brewery."

"Making beer and wine is one of my hobbies and going to see how my favorite beer is made would be so cool if I ever had the chance."

"I don't know what there is about Shiner Bock beer, but I love it."

Another upcoming opportunity for visitors to see the Spoetzl Brewery will be Oct. 17 at the Fifth Annual Bocktoberfest Concert.

The all-day festival is presented by the Shiner Chamber of Commerce and was created to thank loyal Shiner consumers. It has grown to be a great tradition in Texas-music.

Charley Mays, Shiner Bock's assistant brand manager, said in a press release this year's concert is going to be the best line-up in Bocktoberfest history.

"In 1994, almost 10,000 Shiner beer lovers and music fans gathered at the Spoetzl Brewery for our first concert," Mays said.
