Women's Tennis heads to Kansas

STAFF AND WIRE REPORT

The Texas A&M University Women's Tennis Team hits the road this weekend for two Big 12 Conference matches against Kansas State University and the University of Kansas. The matches in Kansas will close out the season for A&M, which is preparing for the upcoming Big 12 Championships to be held April 29-May 2 at the A&M Varsity Tennis Center.

The Aggies (13-7 overall) are currently in a three-way tie for second place in the league with Kansas and the University of Colorado, who all have 7-2 Big 12 records. First-place University of Texas leads the Big 12 with a 8-0 record.

The closing stretch of the season offers numerous possibilities for the Aggies in terms of their seeding for the conference tournament. A&M can finish anywhere from second to sixth in the standings.

If the Aggies sweep KSU and KU, they would guarantee themselves the second seed. Kansas must defeat the Aggies to have any chance at second but the Jayhawks also host Texas on Saturday before A&M comes to town Sunday.

Colorado closes the season out with home matches against the University of Oklahoma and Oklahoma State University and must win both matches to finish second.

The Aggies' first opponent on the trip will be Kansas State on Saturday. The Lady Wildcats come into the match with a 5-15 record overall and are 3-6 in the Big 12.

Kansas State has one of the youngest teams in the Big 12 with its entire roster consisting only of freshmen and sophomores.

K-State's best player is sophomore Anna Pampoulova, one of six Eastern Europeans on the team. The 5-foot-4 Pampoulova, however, has a losing record.

A&M will play Kansas in Lawrence Sunday. The Jayhawks are a team that has failed to meet expectations this season. Having been ranked No. 14 in the country at one time, KU is now No. 48 in the nation.

The Jayhawks have played better down the stretch, winning five straight matches. KU is led by its lone senior, Kris Sell.

Sell has a 26-13 record and is ranked 23rd in the nation. Sell's older sister, Jenny Garrity, is the first-year head coach of the Jayhawks.

The Aggies will look for solid play from freshman Martina Nedorostova and freshman Leah Killen. Nedorostova is coming off a victory over Baylor University's Killen also was victorious in a Baylor match against Hortensia Hernandez. A&M defeated both Kansas by identical 5-4 college station.

Men's Tennis to battle Bears

BY AL LAZARUS
The Battalion

Having already lost two conference matches heading into last year's match against Baylor University, the Texas A&M Men's Tennis Team was playing the role of spoiler against the Bears. After a shocking victory over the University of Texas, Baylor needed a victory over A&M to sew up a conference championship.

MADDEN

The Aggies had other plans, though, and crushed the Bears, 6-1, in front of a spirited crowd in Waco.

A&M, ranked No. 18 by College Tennis Weekly, will take on ninth-ranked Baylor Saturday at noon at the A&M Varsity Tennis Center.

Depending on the outcome of their match against Texas last night in Austin, the Bears could once again be in a position to clinch a conference championship against the Aggies. If they defeat the Longhorns but fall to the Aggies, the three teams will share the conference championship.

Shuon Madden, the Aggies' ace, said the Bears will be motivated by Sunday's match regardless of the outcome. "We spoiled their season last year," Madden said. "That's going to give them a lot of motivation to beat us."

Baylor brings an impressive Saturday's match, with three top singles players and two top doubles teams.

Johann Jooste (No. 26, ranked No. 31) and David Hodge lead the Bears in singles play. In doubles action, Jooste and Hodge are teamed with Joey Gaizdik with Joey Madden.

The Aggies will counter with Schmitt and Dumitru Caradima, who are the nation's top-ranked doubles team since February 16.

Madden, who holds a singles record of No. 20 and has been named Men's Tennis Player of the Week two weeks, said the Aggies will be playing for a share of the title.

"Regardless of what might happen, we just have to come out and play hard," Madden said. "We just have to worry about winning them."
