Rookie guard contributes to Rockets running game

HOUSTON (AP) — While the Big Three of Charles Barkley, Hakeem Olajuwon and Scottie Pippen have contributed their share, the Houston Rockets have been energized by the sizzling shooting of rookie guard Michael Dickerson.

Dickerson hit 58 combined points in the final two regular season games, benefiting from the Rockets recent decision to open up their running game and they will need it beginning Sunday in Game 1 of their best of 5-game first round playoff series with the Los Angeles Lakers.

"Michael got the quietest 58 points over the last two nights," Coach Rudy Tomjanovich said. "That kid's potential is unlimited and it happened just at the right time."

Dickerson hit a career high 31 against Minnesota and closed out the regular season with 27 against Denver. He hit 11 of 14 3-point shots over the final two games and ranks No. 6 in the NBA in 3-point accuracy. In those two games he shot 21-for-34 from the field. "We finally realized that we had the capabilities to run," Dickerson said. "We've been able to get some easy points on the transition. It's really easier because you are warm from running and you get in a rhythm. You don't have to set up on the perimeter and wait to get a shot."

Charles Barkley has been pushing for more emphasis on the running game with Dickerson and the Rockets other rookie starting guard.

"We need to utilize the young legs of Michael and Cutting (Cuttin-ley)," Barkley said. "The kid can't play like they did five ago. Hakeem can't do it all by self now. We haven't seen Michael or Scottie well this season."

"I went to Scottie and told him if we don't win the championship they're going to blame us for not playing the way we've been playing," Barkley said.

It might be that the Rockets just now blending their talents at the point that the transition will work. Tomjanovich has been preaching the running game since season.

"The guys are running that's what we've been trying to do all season," Tomjanovich said. "We're pushing and trying to create something and that will continue. I'm glad those guys' commitment to it. It's just getting better."

Pippen struggled to get the flow of the Rockets offense of the season but he's adapted to the running.

Former Cowboy found dead

PLANO, Texas (AP) — Mark Tuinei, a former Dallas Cowboys offensive lineman who helped them win three Super Bowl titles and was considered the team's toughest player during his 15 seasons, was found dead in his car Thursday morning. He was 39.

Plano police chief Bruce Glasscock said an unidentified friend who had been told to go to Tuinei's house to check on him found Tuinei unconscious in a vehicle. Efforts to revive him failed, and he was pronounced dead upon arriving at Medical Center of Plano, a north Dallas suburb.

The cause of death was not immediately known. Glasscock said foul play, alcohol or drugs were not believed to be involved.

"There is nothing in the investigation at this time that would indicate that," Glasscock said.

A preliminary report from medical examiners was expected by midafternoon Thursday. However, Glasscock said it could take several days for any definitive information from an autopsy or toxicology reports.

The chief said he was unsure how long Tuinei had been out.

"The only information we have at this point is that it was a portion of the morning," he said.

Although Tuinei did not make a high profile as many of his teammates such as Troy Aikman, Emmitt Smith or even fellow offensive lineman Nate Newton (TWO-ey) was extremely popular in the locker room and in the community.

Tuinei was a member of the Dallas Cowboys Hall of Fame and was inducted in 1997.
