PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Queen Mother honored as head of British Legion

LONDON (AP) — The Queen Mother on Thursday celebrated 75 years as head of the women's section of the Royal British Legion.

ELIZABETH

The 98-year-old mother of Queen Elizabeth II was honored by 340 standard-bearers, representing women's branches of the veterans' group throughout England and Wales, who paraded in the garden of Clarence House, her London residence.

In 1924 the Queen Mother accepted the presidency of the group as one of her first royal duties after her marriage to the Duke of York.

She unexpectedly became queen 12 years later when Edward VIII abdicated to marry American divorcee Wallis Simpson.

The Duke of York became King George VI and she became Queen Elizabeth.

Despite her age and two hip replacements, the Queen Mother remains active and is the favorite royal for many Britons.

ABBA member breaks silence with documentary

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Former ABBA member Agnetha Faeltskog broke a decade-long public silence, saying she needed the quiet to calm down from the feverish years of superstardom.

Since putting out a solo album in 1987, Faeltskog has lived a private life in an island suburb of Stockholm with her two children.

Their father is Faeltskog's ex-husband, Bjoern Ulvaeus, another old ABBA member.

"For a 10-year period I have neither played nor sung nor listened to music," Faeltskog said in an upcoming TV documentary, the newspaper Expressen reported Thursday.

"Silence has been a necessity."

She does not look back fondly on her days with the pop group.

"It was horrible sometimes," she said. "It was fever, it was hysteria, it was sweaty, obsessed crowds."

"I felt like they would take hold of me and I would never be able to get away."

Even with the interview, Faeltskog is still staying out of view.

She did not allow the documentary makers to record her remarks on camera, Expressen reported.

Soprano singer pulled from shows at Italy festival

NEW YORK (AP) — Cecilia Bartoli has pulled out of her scheduled performances in "Pelleas and Melisande" next month at the Maggio Musicale Fiorentino, the music festival in Florence, Italy.

The performances by the 31-year-old mezzo-soprano, who has never sung Melisande on stage, were considered the highlight of the annual festival.

Bartoli canceled concert performances of "L'Heure Espagnole" in New York and Cleveland this month because of bronchitis.

She pulled out of her Melisande run because festival organizers scheduled a radio broadcast of the opening performance without her permission, Edgar Vincent, Bartoli's spokesman said.

Ventura refuses day of prayer proclamation

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Gov. Jesse Ventura, who once used his office to proclaim Rolling Stones Day in Minnesota, refused to sign a proclamation making Thursday a day of prayer. Ventura broke with the practice of his predecessors, who have proclaimed a prayer day in conjunction with the National Day of Prayer.

"I believe in the separation of church and state," Ventura said. "We all have our own religious beliefs."

"There are people out there who are atheists, who don't believe at all. ... They are all of Minnesota and I have respect that," he said.

The Minnesota Family Council criticized Ventura's decision, saying that the prayer proclamation dates to 1795, when President George Washington declared a day of public thanksgiving prayer.

"I would think the government the very least should give recognition to a day of prayer he gave to Mick Jagger and the Rolling Stones," Tom Prichard, group's president, said.

Rolling Stones Day was proclaimed during the case.

American artist showcases piece in Rio de Janeiro

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Jenny Holzer intends to showcase her art in Rio's landscape.

The American artist will send messages from a boat on the city landmarks as Sugarloaf, Copacabana Fort on Friday of her new show, "Protect From What I Want."

The show runs through June then goes to Sao Paulo, Argentina and Mexico.

It is Holzer's first individual show in Latin America and explores the public exhibition provocative phrases.

It is an idea she developed in the 1970s with "Truisms," included flashing phrases on boards in New York City's Square.

The 48-year-old Holzer works on exhibit at New York's Guggenheim and Whitney museums, as well as in Spain the Reichstag in Berlin.
