SHOOTING

shoot," she said. Scores of teen-agers attended last night's weekly service because of the annual "See You At The Pole" ceremony.

The annual gathering, where students affirm their faith and concern for the problems of society by holding prayer time around their school's flagpole, began in 1990 as an emphasis of the Texas Baptist Convention. It takes place on the third Wednesday of September.

Dax Hughes, the church's college minister, said at least 150 young people were inside the sanctuary when the disheveled, mustached gunman arrived.

"He hits the door real hard to make his presence known, and he just immediately started firing," Hughes said.

When the gunfire was over, Hughes said, the man "sat in the back pew and put a gun [to his head] and shot himself and fell over."

Chris Applegate, 12, said he was in choir practice when the gunman burst into the room.

"We were singing a song and then in the middle of the song, this guy opened the door and fired one shot," he said. "He just kept telling us to stay still."

"We all just jumped under the benches and he fired about 10 more shots. Somebody said, 'Run, run,' and we all started running."

The man reloaded his large-caliber handgun several times during the rampage, which some first thought was a skit or prank.

"I was wondering whether it was real or not," Chris said. Gov. George W. Bush said in a statement from Detroit: "This is a terrible tragedy made worse by the fact that it took place in a house of hope and love. My thoughts and prayers are with the victims, their families and the congregation."

The red brick Wedgwood Baptist Church sits in an older neighborhood of modest brick homes.

Helicopters buzzed overhead and neighbors crowded the sidewalks, watching the chaotic scene.

This is the latest in a series of high-profile multiple shootings that have taken place this year.

On April 20, Dylan Klebold, 17, and Eric Harris, 18, killed 13 people and then themselves at Columbine High in Littleton, Colo.

On July 29, investor Mark O. Barton, 44, killed nine people and wounded 13 at the brokerage firms in Atlanta, then killed himself.

VIOLENCE

"This is sort of pro-active because we will be talking about things that are happening and what can be done about them," Travers said.

Tonight's skit will be the second of two presentations of the program.

The first was held last night in the A-1 lounge and had approximately 25 students and staff in attendance.

Logan Youree, a junior speech communication major, plays the role of a boyfriend who goes into a jealous rage and ends up raping a girl.

He said he also participated in the similar skits at the New Student Conferences for the incoming freshman and transfer students.

Youree said he wanted to be a part of "He Said/She Said" to raise awareness about these issues on campus and to hopefully have those who have been a victim of rape or sexual assault come forward.

"I know people who this has happened to, and it is very sad and scary that someone has to deal with it," he said.

Youree said he was glad that there was an even ratio of females to males in the audience, and he hopes to have even more patrons tonight.

Rebecca Gardner, a Resident Advisor of FHK complex and a junior construction science major, said date rape is a problem on campus and people do not realize it because this is such a conservative campus.

"Too many times, discussions take place after the fact and not a lot of preventative discussion takes place," she said.

Gardner said last night's performance also helped to inform more students about the resources they have on campus including Beutel Health Center, the Women's Clinic and Gender Issues and Education services.

Free pizza and soft drinks will be available tonight and all students are invited to attend.

said she got involved because she feels strong camaraderie with other students and wants to help her fellow Aggies.

"I felt like it was every Aggie's responsibility to apply for [CARPOOL]," she said.

"If any school was going to do this, it would be this school because we care so much about each other."

American countries, because Hispanic Heritage Month isn't just about Mexico," Cortez said.

Castro said she believes this program is important in building relations among students at A&M.

"This program shows that A&M is embracing Hispanic-American students," she said.

AGGIE RING ORDERS

CLAYTON W. WILLIAMS, JR. ALUMNI CENTER
DEADLINE: SEPTEMBER 21, 1999

Undergraduate Student Requirements:

- You must be a degree seeking student and have completed all of the following requirements to order an Aggie ring:
 - 25 cumulative undergraduate credit hours reflected on the Texas A&M University Student Information Management System degree audit. (A course passed with a grade letter of D or better, which is repeated and passed, cannot count as additional credit hours unless the catalog states the course may be repeated for credit. The lowest grade is the repeated course.)
 - 60 undergraduate credit hours must have been completed in residence at Texas A&M University if your first semester at Texas A&M University was January 1994 or thereafter, or if you attended prior to 1994 and do not qualify under the successful semester requirement defined in the following paragraph. The 60 credit hour requirement will be waived if your degree is conferred with less than 60 A&M credit hours. The waiver will not be granted until after your degree is posted to screens #123 & #136 of the Student Information Management System.
 - 30 undergraduate credit hours must have been completed in residence at Texas A&M University, providing that prior to January 1, 1994, you were enrolled at Texas A&M University and successfully completed either a fall/spring semester or summer term (I and II or 10 weeks) as a full-time student in good standing (A full-time student is defined in the university catalog as one that completes 12 credit hours with a 2.0 GPR in a spring or fall semester; or 4 credit hours with a 2.0 GPR in a 10-week session.)
- Please remember that you will lose resident credits if you pass a course at A&M with a D or better and retake it at another institution and make a higher grade. The lowest grade is always deducted by the university as a repeated class.
- 2.0 cumulative GPR at Texas A&M University.
- Be in good standing with the University, including no registration or transcript blocks for past due fees, loans, parking tickets, returned checks, etc.

Graduate Student Requirements:

If you are a December 1999 degree candidate and do not have an Aggie ring from a prior degree, you may place an order after you meet the following requirements:

- Your degree is conferred and posted on the Texas A&M University Student Information Management System; and
- You are in good standing with the University, including no registration or transcript blocks for past due fees, loans, parking tickets, returned checks, etc.

However, if you have completed all of your course work prior to this semester and have been cleared by the thesis clerk, you may request a "letter of completion" from the Office of Graduate Studies (providing it is not past their deadline). The original letter of completion, with the seal, may be presented to the Ring Office in lieu of your degree being posted.

Procedure to order a ring:

- If you meet all of the above requirements and you wish to receive your ring on November 18, 1999, you must visit the Ring Office no later than Tuesday, September 21, 1999 between the hours of 8:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. to complete the application for eligibility verification.
- It is recommended that you do not wait until September 21 to apply for your ring audit. Should there be a problem with your academic record, or if you are blocked, you may not have sufficient time to resolve these matters before the order closes out on September 23.
- Return no later than September 23, 1999 between the hours of 8:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. to check on the status of your audit and if qualified, pay in full by cash, check, money order, or your personal Discover, Visa or MasterCard (with your name imprinted).

Men's 10K - $312.00	14K - $410.00
Women's 10K - $197.00	14K - $217.00

* Add $8.00 for Class of '98 or before and $15.00 if ring needs to be shipped out-of-town.
The ring delivery date is November 18, 1999.
