SPORTS IN BRIEF

Volleyball heads to Waco to play

The Texas A&M Volleyball Team will battle Big 12 Conference foe Baylor University tonight at 7 p.m. in Waco. The Aggies (12-2, 3-1 Big 12) lead the all-time series between the two squads 31-6. However, the Bears (14-3, 2-2 Big 12) upset the Aggies in five games last year in Waco. The Bears return five starters from last year's team to a 15-18 overall and placed in the Big 12 with a 7-10 record. The Aggies are coming off a huge 3-2 win last Saturday against eighth-ranked Nebraska. The next home match for the Aggies will be Saturday against the University of Oklahoma Sooners.

Golf team struggles at Windon

The No. 24-ranked Texas A&M men's golf team carded a final round of 308 yesterday and struggled to a 14th-place finish at the Windon Memorial Classic at Conway Farms Golf Club. No. 20-ranked Kent University won the tournament with a three round total of 877, four strokes ahead of top-ranked Northwestern University. Northwestern's Luke Donald, the defending NCAA champion, won the individual crown with rounds of 71=208. Kent's Ben Cline of the University of Mississippi and James McLean tied for second with 214. Junior Matt Loving of the Aggies, tying for 36th with rounds of 73-76-78=227. The Aggies will be in action Monday and Tuesday against Pepperdine/Strata International in Somis, Calif.

Defensive lineman Terry Nichols (sprained ankle) is doubtful for Saturday's game. Fullback D'Andre "Tiki" Hardeman (sprained ankle) should see action against the Bears but is still not 100 percent. Wide receivers Matt Bumgardner (sprained ankle) and Bethel Johnson (sprained ankle) are expected to play. Also joining the Aggies' injured list are defensive end RoDerrick Broughton (sprained knee) and linebacker Chad Frantzen (sprained knee). Linebackers Brian Gamble (sprained elbow) and Hank Robertson (sprained knee) are listed as questionable. Defensive lineman Rocky Bernard (sprained knee) is expected to play. Offensive tackle Shea Hill is out for the season with a right ACL injury.

Texas, New York governors make wager on playoffs

AUSTIN (AP) — There's more on the line than baseball when the Texas Rangers and New York Yankees meet in the American League playoffs this week. Texas Gov. George W. Bush and New York Gov. George Pataki are wagering on the outcome. Bush, the former managing partner of the Rangers, is putting up a pair of Texas cowboy boots. Pataki is wagering an Italian feast, including calamari, prosciutto, fresh mozzarella, manicotti and pastries. Bush, the Republican denial frontrunner, was something less than humbly announcing the bet yesterday 3-1 in wagers with his New York counterpart. "Having lost recently to Stars, Spurs and Comets of all I can say is that it is Governor Pataki's betting bet isn't as good as some of Yankees' batting averages," Bush, who has been campaigning in New York. Pataki remained confident. "My feet are destined to genuine Texas cowboy boots. I know the Yankees will lose."

Football great Brown sentenced to probation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — NFL great Jim Brown was sentenced yesterday to three years of probation and ordered to take domestic violence counseling for smashing his wife's car with a shovel during an argument that led her to call 911. Brown also must pay $1,500 to a battered women's shelter and another $200 to a domestic violence fund. The 63-year-old Hall of Famer, who was not in court, was told to appear Oct. 20 with proof that he had joined a counseling program. Brown's lawyer told Municipal Court Judge Dale Fischer that his client opposed any sentencing that included domestic violence conditions. He noted that a jury found Brown guilty only of misdemeanor vandalism on Sept. 10, acquitting him of a charge that he made a terrorist threat against his wife, Monique. "It's unfair to put any conditions of domestic violence on a man who's been actually found not guilty of domestic violence," lawyer William Graysen said outside court. Asked if he believed the court was making an example of Brown, Graysen said, "It would appear so." The prosecutor disputed that view. "We're simply trying to hold him, like any other ordinary citizen, accountable," Deputy City Attorney Grace Lee said. Brown was not in Hollywood Municipal Court because he had been visiting a daughter in Atlanta and missed the plane
