As the four senior members of the Texas A&M Volleyball Team step onto the court for their last home match against the University of Texas, there will not be feelings of sadness, but rather excitement and pride.

"The whole team's pumped up, especially the seniors," senior outside hitter Celia Howes said. "The t.u. game is always a great game for big crowds and Aggie support."

The enduring rivalry between A&M and the Texas will continue tonight at 7 in G. Rollie White Coliseum, as the 16th-ranked Aggie Volleyball Team battles the 10th-ranked Longhorns in one of the Aggies' biggest matches of the season.

A&M (16-4, 7-3 Big 12) is tied for third place in the Big 12 Conference with the University of Nebraska. The Longhorns (15-3, 9-1 Big 12) are tied for first place with Kansas State University. Texas' only Big 12 loss this year came at the hands of Kansas State.

Texas has an impressive 53-13 lead over the Aggies in the all-time series between the two teams.

The Longhorns defeated the Aggies earlier this season 8-15, 17-15, 16-14, 15-6 in Austin and snapped A&M's 30-game winning streak.

Senior outside hitter Summer Strickland said the Aggies are going to concentrate on their own performances and try to reduce
