NON MIA CULPA

Man-made vs. God-made.

Trip to the Moon.

The Moon.

The moon is the perfect size and distance from Earth. Its perfect gravitational pull creates tides so our oceans do not stagnate, but not so much movement that our massive oceans spill across the continents. Is our world just a result of random chance plus time? Or was it thoughtfully and precisely created by a God? A God who's much more than a vague, generic life force?
