Almost as much fun as Spring Break.

A part-time position at The Container Store pays really well and is lots of fun. So what's the catch? There isn't one. Because you also learn about sales, marketing, customer service—it's like a short course in Retail 101 for students of any major.

We currently have part-time positions that begin after Thanksgiving and continue through January. We offer great pay and flexible schedules that work around your classes. It's an excellent opportunity for creative and outgoing students to earn extra cash during the holiday season.

So if you're looking to make some extra money and want to have some fun, call or come by The Container Store, or visit our website at www.containerstore.com.

Pakistani rulers file charges of treason against Sharif

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Nearly one month after throwing out the civilian government, Pakistan's new military rulers today accused deposed premier Nawaz Sharif and eight others of treason and kidnapping — charges that carry the death penalty.

A formal complaint was filed in connection with an incident Oct. 12 in which Sharif refused landing rights to a passenger aircraft carrying Army Chief Gen. Pervez Musharraf. The general responded that day by ousting Sharif in a bloodless coup.

Under Pakistani law, a complaint was lodged with the police. A police inquiry will now be launched and formal charges made.

Sharif, who has been in military custody since his overthrow, was also accused of assembling people with the purpose to kill and physical endangerment, both of which carry prison terms.

Among those accused in the complaint are Sharif's former adviser Ghaus Ali Shah, former director of Pakistan's national airline Shahid Haqqan Abbasi, former Police Inspector Rana Maqbool and former director general of Pakistan Civil Aviation Aminuddin Chaudhry.

The complaint stems from the high-altitude drama that occurred over the Karachi International Airport on Oct. 12 as the army fanned out on the ground and took control.

The Pakistan International Airlines flight returning Musharraf to Pakistan from Sri Lanka was refused landing rights.

Musharraf said in an earlier interview that the pilot circled the airport awaiting instructions as fuel was running out.

The aircraft was rerouted to the southern city of Nawabshah.

While the aircraft was en route, the army gained full control of the country — including the Karachi airport, and ordered the aircraft to land.

When the aircraft landed at Karachi Airport, Musharraf said, there was less than 10 minutes of fuel remaining.

He accused Sharif at the time of attempting to kill him and endangering the lives of the more than 200 passengers and crew on board.

Death count reaches 7,600 after supercyclone hit India's coast

India disasters

The death count from the super cyclone that hit India's Orissa state reached more than 7,600 Wednesday as villagers began burning corpses and animal carcasses in exchange for food and money.
