Ice cream festival set to begin in Brenham this weekend

BY KELLY PREISER
The Battalion

What better way to kick off the summer than fun with ice cream?

To celebrate the summer treat, the city of Brenham — home of Blue Bell Ice Cream — will hold the first Brenham Ice Cream Festival, sponsored by Blue Bell.

The festival will begin its festivities May 6, rain or shine, at 10 a.m. around the courthouse square in downtown Brenham. The festival's theme will be an 1890s ice cream social.

"It's the kind of theme that has its own feel, like 'The Bicycle Built for Two.' Ice cream and that time period just seem to go together," said Phil Kelley, husband of the festival's chairperson Suzie Kelley.

He said this year just seemed like the perfect time to have the first festival, which is planned to be an annual event.

"It was kind of a natural thing; this is the home of Blue Bell Ice Cream. We just finished the renovation of the downtown area, the timing was just right."

There will be many activities occurring during the eight-hour festival. A "Little Mr. and Mrs. Scoop" pageant will be held for 2- to 4-year-olds.

"They'll say their favorite ice cream, and will be judged mostly on personality. It's a nice family thing to do. Plus all the little kids will receive prizes and gifts throughout the day," Kelley said. "There will also be several musical groups performing throughout the day, some national award winners," he said.

Kelley said the festival's location should make it easy to navigate through the grounds.

"Everything will be centered around the courthouse and there will be at least four ice cream booths set up at intersections, and arts and crafts good food," Kelley said.

He said in there will be other petitions and entertainment in addition to the pageant.

"There will also be fun contests all ages throughout the day for all like [an] ice cream walks, [which] like a cake walk, and ice cream contests. There will be neat things to look at, and a barber shop quarter."

Kelley said A&M students will benefit by making the trip to Brenham for the festival.

"I think A&M students would really have fun. It can give you an aged look at life in a relaxing, small town atmosphere. Plus, at this time of year, it can really help get out of the finals. Maybe if enough A&M students come, they can have their own cream eating contest," Kelley said.

People in the news

Goldberg biography will not be banned

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A 1997 biography on Whoopi Goldberg is raising some eyebrows in Milwaukee.

One girl's parents said the book by James Robert Parish should be banned from her high school library because it contains vulgar language.

The school board in the suburban Muskego-Norway School District scheduled a hearing May 22 on the complaint from Richard and Beth Kania. A committee refused two weeks ago to remove the book, acknowledging "some shocking language" but noting Goldberg's charity work and strong anti-drug message.

The book, "Whoopi Goldberg: Her Journey from Poverty to Mega-Stardom," is an unauthorized biography, said the actress-comedian's publicist, Brad Caparelli. "We certainly had nothing to do with it," he said.

Prince Charles tours monasteries

THESSALONIKI, Greece (AP) — Prevented by a second day of bad weather from returning to his yacht vacation, Prince Charles toured monasteries Thursday in the all-male enclave of Mount Athos.

Charles received a state welcome in Karies, the capital of the semi-autonomous region that bars all women and even male animals, before heading by wheel drive vehicle to two monasteries.

SUMMER

winner, but in that sort of role, he may be a little too mature for the young crowd and a little too immature for the old crowd.

This film should be worthwhile, but it is uncertain how audiences will take to it.

Clint Eastwood returns to the big screen with an all-star cast including Donald Sutherland, James Garner and Tommy Lee Jones for the adventure flick Space Cowboys.

The movie is about a bunch of over-the-hill astronauts going back in to space for one last mission.

It was originally pitched to Eastwood a couple of years ago but he passed on it, thinking the premise was improbable — until he read about John Glenn going back in to space.

Within weeks of that event, Eastwood and Warner Brothers had greenlighted the project, and it is sure to catch the older crowd's fancy this summer with its mature cast.

Following up on the success of the hit comedy Big Fish, director Harold Ramis has another comedy being released at the end of the summer called Bedazzled. Ramis is the project after passing on Galaxy Quest when Tim Allen was cast.

Featuring Brendan Fraser and Elizabeth Hurley, the question that remains on this one is whether this will be another Dudley Do-Right or George of the Jungle.

Another film coming out this summer is the Robert Rodriguez-directed The Legend of Bagger Vance, starring Matt Damon and Will Smith. It seems that following last summer's horrible Wild, Wild West, Smith is opting for a smaller, probably higher quality role.

And there is also the Wayans' family production, Big Momma on Campus, a spoof on the slasher-movie craze of recent years.

Whatever one fancies, this summer has a movie that makes it worth a trip to the theater this summer — and just for the air conditioning.
