Border patrol rescues seven

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A 14-year-old girl found floating face-down in the Rio Grande was one of seven people the U.S. Border Patrol rescued from weekend flood waters, the agency said Monday.

At least nine people died across the border in Juarez and several families in central El Paso were left homeless by Saturday's rising waters, the El Paso Times reported.

The girl, who was discovered around 2 a.m. Sunday, was resuscitated by an EMT-trained agent.

The Juarez, Mexico, teen was apparently a passenger in a van that was washed into the river by strong currents, the agency said. Her grandfather apparently drowned while her sister escaped. The girl, whose name was not immediately released, is listed in critical but stable condition at Providence Hospital in El Paso, the Border Patrol said.

1,500 pounds of marijuana found in Mexican mango truck

PHARR, Texas (AP) — A gamma-ray sweep of a tractor-trailer carrying mangoes helped U.S. Customs inspectors find 1,561 pounds of marijuana.

After the tractor-trailer was pulled over Saturday for a secondary examination, inspectors ran it through Customs' Vehicle And Cargo Imaging System, officials said in a news release. The gamma-ray scan showed discrepancies in the floor, and a Customs dog alerted officials to the same area.

Inspectors found 306 bundles of marijuana. Customs officials estimated the load had a street value of

The driver, 35-year-old Jose Segura Martinez from Reynosa, Tamaulipas, Mexico, was arrested on state drug charges.

The groups, who filed papers Monday with the state's environmental agency, have formally asked the state to devise a plan for curbing emissions in Texas. They also are asking state officials to monimethane, commonly called greenhouse gases.

Texas has about 7 percent of the nation's population, leads the nation in greenhouse-gas emissions and accounts for 14 percent of the annual U.S. total, according to and Economic Developmena report prepared this year for the World Wildlife Fund.

Additionally, environmentalists say that Texas' coast is threatened especially by rising sea levels, high-
