News in Brief Space shuttle crew sets up living space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) Space shuttle Atlantis' astronauts closed the doors to the international space station on Sunday after accomplishing all their chores and more. They planned to pull away aboard Atlantis late Sunday

"You did a fantastic job," radioed Mission Control, "and we know the Expedition One crew will really appreciate all the effort you put in ge.tting their new home set up.

Expedition One — the first permanent space station crew - is scheduled to blast off Oct. 30 aboard a Russian rocket and arrive at the complex two days later for a four-month stay.

During their five days inside, the shuttle astronauts stocked the space station with more than 6,000 pounds of food, clothes, soap, toothbrushes, ear plugs, pens, notebooks, trash bags, radios, vacuum cleaners, power converters and other gear. The seven men installed the toilet, oxygen generator and treadmill in the new Russianbuilt living quarters and, during an excursion outside last Monday, hooked up power and TV cables. They also plugged in fresh batteries and boosted the station into a 240-mile-high orbit, about 14 miles higher than before.
