He comes into A&M with more experience than one would expect from a freshman — he has played the junior portions of the Austin Open, French Open, U.S. Open Wimbledon within the last year. Davis also won the double title at the USTA Boys 18s Tournament during the summer.

To win that title, Davis had to be one of his future A&M teammates Ryan Newport. Newport was 2000 Big 12 Newcomer of the Year and Keith Fromme, who was ranked No. 59 and the only Aggie who competed in the main draw of the ITA All-American. Two-time All-American Dan Caradima is using the fall to gain experience in a different way than the rest of the team. He is currently in the professional circuit in the role as an amateur and will join the team in the spring semester. Caradima is currently ranked No. 88.

"His (Caradima's) addition in January should be a big boost for the team," Treibly said. Treibly said that the team, upon Caradima, will use the fall to lay upon fundamentals such as speed and speed.

He said the coaches will also develop team chemistry by finding a lineup that will be successful in the spring and by looking at different doubles combinations.

"On the court [this fall], what players are looking for is to develop their game," Treibly said. "Every time we take the court, our goal is win; but we also want to become better players."

Kleinecke said that, although team would like to win every match it plays, the fall is a time to work things out and practice against players from other teams because matches do not count until spring.

"I don't want them (his players) to peak at this time," he said. "We want to peak in April or May, not now." With all of the promising players the team has, Kleinecke said it will be difficult to come up with a lineup for the spring.

"This year everybody is fighting for every position," Kleinecke said. Sure to make the lineup is the four dorostova, who is one of the four returning players on the team.

Nedorostova is No. 77 in the national singles and is No. 33 in doubles. Sharing the No.-33 rank in doubles is Terburgh, perhaps the most anticipated newcomer this year because she transferred from Tyler Junior College after the team captured the national championship. Terburgh finished ranked No. 3 in singles and No. 1 in doubles.

"If you just look at her game, she could get very, very good," Kleinecke said.

Other newcomers that Kleinecke said could make an immediate impact are Roland and Hedburg. Hedburg transferred from New Mexico. Kleinecke said that with so many newcomers, leadership will be important to the success of the team. According to Kleinecke, team captain Marcial will provide that leadership. "Eva (Marcial) is an intelligent part, leadership-wise," Kleinecke said. "People love to watch her. She is a fireball."

Because of the mix of new players, Kleinecke said, the team's goals are to win the Big 12 to the NCAA tournament and to finish in the Top 25.

"They are strong goals," Kleinecke said, "but they are very achievable if we peak at the right time."
