Davis will meet with Texans but plans to stay in Miami

HOUSTON (AP) — Butch Davis, who has the Miami Hurricanes in contention for a national championship, reportedly has no plans to go elsewhere.

"To be honest with you, my intent today is to stay at the University of Miami," Davis told KTRH-AM and KRIV-TV as he was preparing to leave Bush Intercontinental Airport on Tuesday after meeting with officials of the Houston Texans, the next NFL expansion team.

Davis said he agreed to meet with the Texans because several people, including NFL types and church friends from Dallas, told him the opening was worth investigating because of owner Bob McNair.

"He really is what they said he was," Davis said of the Houston billionaire who beat out Los Angeles last year for the league's 32nd franchise.

When asked if he was considering coach at Alabama, Davis was blunt: "I'm staying at Miami."

Davis met with McNair and general manager Charley Casserley to discuss coaching the Texans, who will begin play in 2002.

"Butch is a highly qualified coach, who had done an outstanding job at Miami, as he did as an assistant with the Cowboys," McNair said. "He has all the credentials in my view and certainly is well qualified to be head coach of the Texans."

But McNair was quick to add this was just a meeting designed to "get to know each other."

The 49-year-old Davis has guided Miami to a 10-1 record this season, his sixth with the Hurricanes. If Oklahoma loses to Kansas State in the Big 12 championship game, Miami will get a rematch with Florida State in the national title game.
