

Golden Key National Honor Society

First General Meeting
Tuesday, January 30th
8:30 p.m. Koldus 110

Do your Parents Bleed Maroon?

Nominate them for Parents of the Year!

Applications will be available at the following informationals:

Tuesday, January 30th - Koldus Rm 144 2-3 pm
Wednesday, January 31st - Rudder Rm 510 8:30 pm
Thursday, February 1st - Koldus Rm 146 2-3 pm

If you have any questions or concerns in regard to the dates and times, please contact Lori Martindale in the Student Government office at 845-3051.

BEAT THE CLOCK

Mondays
6-8pm

The Time You Call
Is The Price You Pay!!!!

College Station
764-7272

TAMU/ Northgate
846-3600
Open till 2 a.m. Thursday
3 a.m. Friday & Saturday

Bryan
268-7272

2001

The Advising Odyssey

Attention

Student Organization Advisors

Mark your calendars and be sure to attend these educational workshops. Each session addresses a topic which is important to the success of an advisory experience.

Light snacks will be provided, but feel free to bring your own food.

Dates:	Topics:	Room & Time:
Tues., Jan. 30	Hazing	4:00-5:15pm Rudder 501
Fri., Feb. 2	Hazing	11:30-12:45pm Koldus 144
Tues., Feb. 6	Travel	4:00-5:15pm Rudder 302
Fri., Feb. 9	Travel	11:30-12:45pm Koldus 144

<http://sact.tamu.edu/workshops/workshops1.htm>

Student Activities For more information
At Texas A&M University call Kim Novak at 845-1133

Friends, cops find 2 professors dead

Faculty, students mourn loss of Dartmouth College longtime instructor

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — The safe, close-knit feel of Dartmouth College was shattered Sunday by the suspicious deaths of two popular, longtime professors, a couple described as the pillars of the Ivy League school's faculty.

Susanne and Half Zantop had welcomed so many guests into their home "they practically seemed to run a hotel," said colleague Bruce Duncan.

The couple's latest guests arrived at their home Saturday evening, only to find their hosts' bodies.

Police were close-mouthed, saying little more at a brief news conference early Sunday than that the deaths were suspicious.

Investigators stationed outside the couple's home four miles east of the campus stopped passing cars to question drivers during the night. However, officers told at least one neighbor there was no cause for alarm.

Guest Roxanne Verona and a companion found the bodies about 6:30 p.m. Saturday, but police had told them not to talk to reporters about the discovery.

"They are wonderful people," the instructor of French and Italian said of the Zantops, then corrected herself: "They were wonderful people. They were special — intellectually, humanly, everything."

"They were wonderful people. They were special — intellectually, humanly, everything."

— Roxanne Verona
Dartmouth professor

Susanne Zantop, 55, was a professor of German and chairman of Dartmouth's German Studies Department. Her 62-year-old husband taught earth sciences. They had been instructors at Dartmouth for at least 25 years, said Edward Berger, dean of faculty for arts and sciences.

"Everybody feels they were their best friends because they were friends to everyone," said Susannah Heschel, chairwoman of the school's Jewish Studies Department. "Their home was the center for so many of us."

Heschel said that when she and her husband first came to Dartmouth three years ago, the Zantops were among the first to welcome them.

"As soon as we arrived here, they invited us over constantly, they included us in everything," she said, her voice cracking. "Everyone is so shocked because their home was so open to all of us. It just radiated their warmth and for this to happen in their home."

Many of the college's nearly 5,600 students learned of the deaths in a campus-wide email from the staff of the student newspaper, The Dartmouth.

"I couldn't breathe," Kinohi Nishikawa, a senior at the college and a research assistant in the German Studies Department, said of his reaction to the email.

During the holidays, Nishikawa had visited a friend in Germany and bumped into the Zantops, both born in Germany, coming out of a theater.

"She was so nice," he said. "She welcomed us to Berlin."

Duncan said Susanne Zantop

was best known for her research on German colonialism and was considered among the top in her field. Half Zantop specialized in economic geology, the study of valuable deposits.

He probably was the most popular professor in his department, said fellow faculty member Jan Aronson.

"He was the one person in the department who would always come with a solution that was original, ward fairness," Aronson said.

The couple had two adult daughters: Veronika, 29, who lives in San Francisco, and Mariana, 27, of New York City.

Hanover, a picturesque town just under 10,000, is lively but generally safe.

When two female students in Ethiopia were murdered within in 1991, police said they were first murders in town in more than 40 years and the first of Dartmouth students that anyone could remember. An Ethiopian man alleged spurned by one of the victims convicted and sentenced to life in prison without parole.

Van, tractor collision kills 10

CHICAGO (AP) — Tongula Overstreet's family made a somber visit to a funeral home Saturday as they attempted to come to terms with her death in one of the state's worst auto collisions.

"The more that we do, the better we are ... but this is a dark, dark time for our family," said her sister Rosie Jackson.

Overstreet was one of 10 people killed Friday when a Salvation Army van rolled across a median on Interstate 55 and was struck by an oncoming tractor-trailer. The van was carrying friends and family members to visit inmates in two prisons.

All of the victims were from Chicago. Besides Overstreet, those killed were identified as: Betty J. Allen, 38; Miyuki M. Cannon, 34; Terria T. Harrell, 23;

Rosie L. Harris 53; Jill Henry, 49; LaTanya P. Jackson, 16; Rev. Ralph J. Johnson, 73; Juan A. Ramos, 74; and driver Garneal T. Matthews, 44.

The lone survivor from the van, a 24-year-old woman whose name was not released, was in critical condition at Loyola University Medical Center. The truck's driver suffered minor injuries.

Investigators from the National Transportation and Safety Board (NTSB) are working with Illinois State Police to re-create events leading up to the crash, said state police Master Sgt. Moses Clay.

"With some witness testimony and the work of our officers and the NTSB, we hope to at least be able to provide some answers to the families involved," Clay said.

Couple finds KFC recipe in home

SHELBYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The handwritten note that Tommy and Cherry Settle discovered in their basement a year ago could be the answer to one of the country's best kept culinary secrets — Colonel Harland Sanders' recipe for fried chicken.

The couple bought their Shelbyville home, a white mansion on U.S. 60 West, from Sanders and his wife, Claudia, in the early 1970s.

About a year ago, the two were digging through a box of books from the basement and found a leather-bound datebook from 1964, Cherry Settle told the Lexington Herald-Leader.

Among appointments and other notes was a recipe for fried chicken that called for 11 herbs and spices, she said.

It's the same number that makes up the recipe for one of the temples of fast-food culture — KFC's "Original Recipe" fried chicken. The exact blend is a secret as well kept as the formula for Coca-Cola.

The recipe is known by only a handful of people, all of whom have signed confidentiality contracts, according to KFC's Website.

In putting the recipe together, one company blends a mix that represents only a part of the recipe. Another company blends the remainder, with neither company ever having the complete recipe.

The Settles were considering selling the planner through an auction house, but first they contacted KFC to see whether the company could verify that the recipe was authentic, Settle said.

"They didn't say anything at the time," she said. "They just sent this court document to us."

Last week, KFC filed a sealed lawsuit in Shelby County Circuit Court asking that the piece of paper found by the Settles be given to the company.

Amy Sherwood, a spokeswoman for KFC's parent company, referred on Saturday to a prior statement: "While we think it improbable that any individual has the secret recipe to our famous fried chicken, we took Mr. Settle's threat seriously."

Sherwood said she was referring to the company's allegation that the Settles approached KFC looking for payment for the datebook. Cherry Settle denied that charge.

The judge handling the case, William Stewart, said he plans to sign an order unsealing the lawsuit on Monday. The Sanders datebook is now in a courthouse safe.

Sanders came up with the famous recipe in the late 1930s for Sanders Court and Cafe, his roadside eatery in Corbin, Ky. Back then, the motel and restaurant business seated 142 people. In 1998, more than 10,300 KFC stores generated about $20.6 billion.

News in Brief

Stock exchange converts to new decimal system

NEW YORK (AP) — Fractious are no longer welcome on the New York Stock Exchange.

Starting today, the exchange will trade all its stocks in decimals, the last step in a government-mandated move that has been planned for three years.

Nearly 3,400 stocks that till now have been traded in halves, quarters, eighths and sixteenths are due to be switched when trading begins today. Change officials are not too sure — they have had so much trouble with the practice, with 159 issues already trading in decimals as part of a pilot program that began last summer.

"The decimal capability is already embedded in the change systems," said Bob Blum, NYSE's executive vice president of market operations, technology and market data.

The same change is scheduled today on the smaller American Stock Exchange, which has launched a pilot program in summer. An estimated 1,500 stocks and options will be affected there.

But the switchover will not involve all U.S. stocks, at least yet. The Nasdaq Stock Market home to more than 4,600 companies, including Intel and Microsoft, plans to start converting its trading to decimals in March and finish by April 9, the deadline set by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Career Fair

In association with the Cooperative Education Department

- Internships
- Co-op Positions
- Permanent Positions
- Networking
- Money

January 29—Reception/Dinner ♦ Hilton Ballroom 7-10 PM
January 30—Exhibition ♦ 2nd Floor MSC 10 AM – 6 PM

For more information, see the SEC website. Http://sec.tamu.edu

May Graduates The Official Texas A&M

Graduation Announcements

Order via the web!

<http://graduation.tamu.edu>

All orders and payments must be received by March 2, 2001!

MSC Box Office
M-F 11am-8pm

979-845-1234
1-888-890-5667

HAVE YOU?

PICKED UP YOUR
2000 Aggeland
yearbook

IF YOU ORDERED a 2000 Aggeland and haven't picked it up, stop by room 015 in the basement of the Reed McDonald Building. Please bring your Student ID. If you do not order last year's Texas A&M yearbook (the 1999-2000 school year), you may purchase one for $35 plus tax. Hours: 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Cash, checks, VISA, MasterCard, Discover and American Express accepted.